MARY ELIZA MASON

AN EXPLANATION

The Committee on Publication presents this volume, complying as near as possible to the wish of the author.

In some cases the manuscript was not quite clear, but copy has been followed since no one knew the history of the Mason family as Miss Mary E. Mason did.

In some instances it seems to be somewhat incomplete, but no member of the committee was able to make proper corrections.

We are presenting the printed book in exact reproduction of the original copy.

DEDICATION

To the memory of

MY FATHER

This book is affectionately inscribed by one who, through all her work, could but think how pleased he would be could he note the progress of that work, and whose silent approbation was her most constant incentive to work.

The Design of the Cover

Thinking about this it seemed that some design symbolic of the ever branching family would be appropriate for a genealogical register. The banyan tree was considered, but upon remembering the beautiful walking fern, the tree was abandoned and the fern selected.

The fern's method of growth symbolizing the growth, dissemination, and onward tread of the family.

I ask from the artist leniency in criticism of the design, as it was my first attempt to design. Its main feature being originality, rather than artistic merit. M. E. M.

PREFACE

It was my intention in the beginning to simply trace the ancestry of my father and mother back far enough to see if they were two separate families, or only two branches of the same family. Then as it was the end of the first century since my great grandfather landed at Marietta, he being the first Mason in the "Northwest Territory," and as his descendants are settled in many states of the West, I purposed to find the number of descendants, and how the family had grown in the last one hundred years. Having become interested in the investigations, my desire to collect a complete family record increased. This led to my seeking every available source of information, which required correspondence with a large number of persons, covering a period of 30 years and incurring of no little expense. Accuracy in everything, and that has been striven for. Having finally collected a complete genealogy of many of the family as far back as Hugh Mason, I have been asked, and thought best, to have the genealogy, together with some other facts, put in more enduring form.

If the facts collected are of value or interest to any now living or shall be prized by future generations, I shall be highly gratified.

Explanations

The plan adopted by the New England Historic Genealogical Society is the one followed in this work.

The heads of families are numbered in Arabic numbers in large type. Following the sketch of the head of a family will be found the name of the children, in the order of their birth, as far as ascertained, numbered by Roman numerals.

The consecutive Arabic numerals in small type, preceding the name of individuals, indicate that their record is continued on a subsequent page under the same number in large type.

The ancestry of the head of each family is given enclosed in parentheses; the generations of the same being indicated by exponent figures.

Frequent repetitions of common words, such as born, married, died, baptized, daughter and removed, have led to the use of ordinary abbreviations. The interrogation is used to express doubt or uncertainty.

G before the name denotes that the record was obtained from "Sterling History," by Isaac Goodwin.
S from Dictionary of Savage.
H from Harris Manuscript History (N. E. H. G. Society).
B from "Bonds Watertown."
N from New England Historic Genealogical Reg.
D from Dublin History.
A from Dedham History.
C from History of Spencer.
L from Lexington History.
F or blank from members of the family.

Note—The compiler will be pleased to have her attention called to any errors or omissions in this volume, and to receive additional information concerning any of the families mentioned.

In the New England Gen. Register I find the following:

Gleanings among the English Archives:

Admon—of Hugh Mason, commissioned 16 May, 1702, to Benjamin Franklin, attorney for John and Joseph Mason, sons of Hugh Mason late of Watertown in New England, deceased, to administer during absence and for use of said sons.—P. C. C. Acts Book.

Admon—of Hugh Mason, commission issued 16 May, 1702, to Benjamin Franklin, attorney for John and Joseph Mason, sons of Hester Mason, widow of Hugh Mason, late of Watertown in New England, deceased; to administer during absence and for use of said sons.—P. C. C. Acts Book.

Note says—These administrations taken out in England ten years after the decease of the longest lived probably show the recovery of some property left by relatives there.

"Larondouette, 5-11-11.

"Miss Mason:

"I send herewith a short sketch of what has been done in our search for Captain Hugh Mason.

"The search among the English records for Captain Hugh Mason begun in 1896 and given at intervals into the hands of several experts. The first step was to examine the records at Somerset House—the repository of English wills—and subsequently those published and found upon the shelves of the British Museum. Later some two hundred Parish Registers were searched and though the name of Hugh Mason continually occurs, yet none of them have afforded a clue. At one time a subscription was started by Charles F. Mason, Esq., of Cambridge, Mass., and the sum was expended in searching as far as possible the Parish and Town Records. The frequency of the name in Yorkshire led to a special hunt in that county and some sixty wills were examined, but to no purpose. It is, however, almost certain that Captain Hugh is of the Yorkshire family, known today as the 'Hull' Masons. Various traditions still held in the American branch of the family associate with the coat of arms and crest of this Yorkshire family, the head of which was Sir John, who was Privy Councellor to King Henry VIII, King Edward VI, Queen Mary and Elizabeth and was also Chancellor of Oxford. A conspicuous man in his time. The probable reason of our non-success in finding a clue to Captain Hugh lies in the fact that he was a Puritan, a sect so scorned by loyalists of his day that few records were kept of them. It would seem as if this would be the only explanation of the difficulty experienced in tracing our common ancestor. In the documents, and they are many, collected in the search, lies the history of many an American family, though that of Captain Hugh is still unknown to us. One of the discouraging things that is met in genealogical research in England during the time of the Stuarts, is the wholesale destruction of Parish Registers. So many have been burned and are missing. In many cases whole pages have been torn out to use in wrapping up parcels. Vicars, curates and other officials who have been asked for information have replied in a most kindly way and many precious documents have been instantly placed before the writer of this sketch. Many of them are in a hand-writing very unlike that of our day and a certain knowledge of block letters is essential. Surely some day with patience we shall find the link we are all so anxious to discover.

"BURDETT MASON."

THE MASON HISTORY

1. B F.—Hugh Mason, b. in England in 1606. d. in Watertown, Mass., Oct. 10, 1678. M. Hester Wells, who d. May 21, 1692, aged 82. Hugh Mason, tanner or currier, aged 28, with his wife, Hester, aged 22, came to New England 10th of April, 1634, in the ship Francis from Ipswich, Suffolk Co., England. Ship commanded by John Cutting. They settled in Watertown, Mass. He was made freeman Mar. 4, 1634-5. He was one of the most notable men who came from England at that early time. Many positions of honor and trust were given to him while he was but a young man and continued to him until his death. Was Lieutenant as early as 1647, and appointed Captain by the court in April, 1652. (A copy of which I have). He held this office until his death, Oct. 10, 1678. He was Selectman for Watertown 29 years consecutively, viz., from 1639 to 1678, and a Representative or Deputy to General Court ten years, viz., 1644-45-60-61-64-71-74-75-76-77. In May 1643, he was appointed by the General Court one of three commissioners to end small causes. In May, 1648, upon the request of the inhabitants of Watertown, he was empowered to solemnize marriages at Watertown. The first recorded double marriage was that of his daughters, Mary who m. Rev. Joseph Estabrook, a graduate of Harvard College, and Sarah, who m. Capt. Andrew Gardner, which took place May 20, 1668. Hugo Mason m. Jan. 13, 1632-3 Hester Wells, who d. May 21, 1692, aged 82. He d. Oct. 10, 1678. A copy of his will and the inscription on the grave-stones and other interesting facts will be found in this and subsequent chapters. The following facts were given to me in 1924 by Mr. Charles Mason, of Plymouth, Mass. The late J. Henry Lea, communicated to the N. E. His. and Gen. Register Vol. 54, page 189, abstracts of records found in the Acts Books of the Prerogative Court of Canterbury, which shows that on the 16th of May, 1702, a commission was issued to Benjamin Franklin (an uncle of B. F., the American statesman), attorney for John and Joseph Mason, sons of Hugh Mason, late of Watertown, in New England, deceased, to administer during the absence and for the use of said sons and that on the same date a commission was issued to the said Franklin, attorney for John and Joseph Mason, sons of Hester Mason, widow, late of Watertown, in New England, deceased, to administer during the absence and for the use of said sons.

The clue given by these records published in the Register has been followed by the contributor of the present article, and has led recently to the discovery in the Public Records Office, London, among the records of proceedings in Chancery, of duc-uments that connect the Watertown settler and his wife with the borough of Malden, Co. Essex. Abstracts of these documents, given in present day spelling (except for proper names), whatever statements are of genealogical interest follow:

From Chancery Proceedings:

Preserved in the Public Record Office, London. These doc. are in Chancery Proceedings before 1714, Milford's Division, Bundle 46913.

19 of June, 1702. To the Right Honorable Sir Nathan Wright, Knight, Lord Keeper of the Great Seal of England.

Humbly complaining shew unto your Lordship your orators, John and Joseph Mason, sons of Hugh Mason, late of Watertown, in New England, in parts beyond the seas, yeoman, and Hester his wife, both deceased, which Hester was one of the daughters and devisees of Thomas Wells, son and heir of the aforesaid Thomas Wells, late of Maulden in the county of Essex, yeoman, likewise deceased, and Benjamin Franklin, of London, dyer, administrator not only of all the goods, chattels, rights, and credits which were of and did belong to the said Hugh Mason at the time of his death but also of all the goods, chattels, rights, and credits which were of and did belong to the said Hester, who survived the said Hugh Mason, at the time of her death, that the said Thomas Wells, the father, in his lifetime, that is to say, on or about the seventeenth day of December, which was in the year of Our Lord 1624, being seized in fee or of some other estate of inheritance of and in all that piece or parcel of meadow or pasture land called or known by the name of Little Portland, containing by estimation four acres and a half, more or less, with the appurtenances, lying and being in Maulden aforesaid, and which was then in the tenure or occupation of Michaell Coop(er) or his assigns, and also of and in all that messuage or tenement in which he then dwelt, lying and being in Fulgridge Street in Maulden aforesaid, and the houses, buildings, stable, yards, gardens, and orchards thereunto belonging or therewith then used as part, parcel, of member thereof, with the appurtenance, made his last will and testament in writing, duly executed, and bearing date on or about the said seventeenth day of December, in the said year of Our Lord, 1624, and thereby he devised in these or like words, that is to say, I devise and give unto my son Thomas Wells and to the heirs of his body lawfully to be begotten all that my close or parcel of meadow or pasture called Little Portland, containing by estimation four acres and a half, more or less, with the appurtenances, lying and being in Maulden aforesaid, and which is now in the tenure and occupation of Michaell Cooper or his assigns; and, for default of such issue of his body, then I will the one half of the said parcel of meadow or pasture, with the appurtenances, to remain unto Hellene, my daughter, now wife of Moses Catmer, shoemaker, and to her heirs, and the other moiety of the same to remain unto Hester Wells, my youngest daughter, and to her heirs forever. Item, I do devise and give the messuage in which I dwell and the houses, buildings, stable, gardens, and orchards thereunto belonging or therewith used as part or parcel thereof with the appurtenances, in manner following, that is to say, the one half of the said messuage, gardens, and premises thereunto belonging, with the appurtenances unto the said Hellene, my daughter, and to the heirs of her body lawfully begotten, and the other moiety of the said messuage and premises, with the appurtenances, unto the said Hester Wells and to the heirs of her body lawfully to be begotten; and if both my said daughters happen to die without issue lawfully begotten, then I will the said messuage and premises, with the appurtenances, shall remain to said Thomas, my son, and to his heirs and assigns forever. And your orator further shew that the said Thomas Wells, the father, also in his said will devised the care and education of his said younger children, Hester and Thomas, unto his brother-in-law, Simon Raye, until they and either of them should be of competent age and years and of ability of body to be put forth and placed in service, as by the said will had your orators the same to produce to this Honorable Court, more fully might and would appear. Soon after the maker of which said will, that is to say, about the end of the month of December, in the year of Our Lord 1624, aforesaid, he the said Thos. Wells, the father, departed this life, being then unmarried, and leaving issue, the said Hellene, Hester, and Thos. Wells, his only children, and after whose death, about the third day of February following, the said Simon Raye proved the said will, whereof he was therein made executor, in due form of law, and took on him the burden and execution thereof, and afterwards, that is to say, about the month of December, in the year of Our Lord 1631, he, the said Thos. Wells, the son, departed this life, being then under age of twenty-one years and unmarried and leaving no issue of his body and without making any disposition of his estate, the said Hellene and Hester surviving him, whereby the estate devised and that pertaining to him as aforesaid, by the said will or by descent, came to them, and said Hellene and Hester, as devisees by the said will or as sisters and coheirs of him, the said Thos. Wells, the son. And the said Hellene and Hester or those who were instrusted to do the same on their behalf entered into and became seized of his said premises. And afterwards, that is to say, about the month of January, in the year of Our Lord 1632, she the said Hester, intermarried with Hugh Mason, then of Malden aforesaid, tanner, and since of Watertown, in New England, in parts beyond the seas. And your orators further shew that the said Hugh Mason and Hester sometime after their marriage, that is to say, about the year of Our Lord 1633, or the year of Our Lord 1634, went out of the Kingdom of England into New England in America, in parts beyond the seas, aforesaid, and afterwards, that is to say, the 29th day of September, in the year of Our Lord 1654, being then in England the said Hugh Mason, by his deed then dated, demised and granted unto one Giles Cole of Malden, aforesaid all that his moiety of the said piece or parcel of land called Little Portland for the term of the natural life of him, the said Hugh Mason (in case she, the said Hester, should so long live), at the yearly rent of three pounds per annum, which rent the said Giles Cole in his deed then made duly executed did for himself and his assigns covenant and agree with the said Hugh Mason well and faithfully to pay to the said Hugh Mason accordingly. Afterwards, that is to say, in the year of Our Lord 1655, the said Hellene, wife of the said Moses Catmer and one of the daughters of the said Thomas Wells, the father, departed this life without making any disposition of her share of the said premises or any part thereof and without issue of her body, the said Hester surviving her, whereby her share of the said premises did descend unto her, the said Hester, according to the said will or as next heir at law to her, the said Hellene, after whose death the said Hugh and Hester Mason entered and became seized of all the said premises in right of her, the said Hester, in fee, etc.

Mr. Charles Francis Mason, A. B., of Plymouth, Mass., who gave this to me, says:

For his success in this search the contributor of this article is greatly indebted to the advice of J. Gardner Bartlett of Cambridge, Mass., the well known specialist on English research and a member of the Committee of Publications of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, Vincent Burrough Redstone, F. S. A., of Woodbridge, Co. Suffolk, England, a member of the Committee on English Research of the Society, and the latter's daughter, Miss Lillian J. Redstone, of London.

Hester Welles, wife of Hugh Mason, was dr. Thomas Welles and Helen Siday of Malden, Eng. (Records of St. Peter's Parish, Malden, Co. Essex, England). Hugo Mason and Hester Welles Jan. 13, 1632-3.

Thomas Welles was a glover in Malden. The Welleses were of Malden as early as 1549.

HUGH MASON'S WILL

"The last will and testament of Hugh Mason of Watertown, who though weake of body, yet of sound understanding and memory, desire to dispose of myself and estate as followeth, first of all I comit my soule into the hands of the eternal Jehovah from whom I expect exceptance through the greate Mediator the Lord Jesus and my body being dead unto the grave from whence I desire to wait for a glorious resurrection in the great day of account, and for my temporall estate I doe hereby give and bequeath unto my loving wife for her comfortable support during the time of her life, a third part of all my housing and land, garden, orchard, etc. as allso out of my moveables as much as dooth amount to the sum of twenty pounds of what she shall make her choice of as also my executor shall duely pay or cause to be paid yearly the just sum of three pounds during the time of her widowhood. As for my son John Mason, I do give unto him all that land bought of Daniall Hudson, with all the houses, barns and privileges thereto belonging. As for my three daughters viz., Hannah, Mary and Sarah, I doe give twenty pounds to each of them to be paid within 13 months after my decease. As for my son Daniell, in regard of the liberal education I have given him, as also a deed of some land in England. I doe judge it an equal portion, provided that if he cannot gain that land in England then it is my will he shall have twenty pounds of it ten of it to be paid out of what I have given unto John Mason, and the other ten by my executor. As for my son Joseph Mason, I doe hereby make him sole executor and doe give him all my housing and lands after his mother's decease, with all the remaining goods and debts, having first discharged all my just debts provided alwaies that my son Joseph die without issue of his body, that then the housing and lands shall be distributed among the brothers and sisters by proportion. That this is my owne act. Witness my hand. HUGH MASON.

3 day 12 month, 1677."

BOND LINE

The early mention we have found of the Bond family is in Doomsday book with numerous estates in many counties in Eng. in the time of Edward the Confessor and William the Conqueror. Some trace to Earth and Holeywood in the Co. of Cornwall and earlier.

In the church records of Rattelsden, Eng., we find 1588, June 23, Jonas[1] Bond and Rose Wood were m. and the bap. of their sons Oliver and "John the elder" no other mention is in these records, which confirm the opinion that he resided at Woolpit, where he owned the property. The records of St. James Church, Bury St. Edmund contain the baptisms of the rest of his ch. viz, John "the younger," Bartholomew, William, Thomas, "the youngest" bap-Sep. 8, 1597, Elizabeth and Margaret.

Woolpit is about six miles from Bury St. Edmunds and he may have resided at Woolpit through his life or his last years may have been spent in Bury as he was bur. there Aug. 5, 1601. His will follows:

"In the name of God Amen. The Thirtieth day of July Anne dni, 1601.

"I, Jonas[1] Bond of Bury St. Edmunde in the County of Suff. and Diocese of Norwich being weake and sick in body yet good and perfect of remembrance (thanked be God) make this my persent Testament and last will in maner and forme following. 22. Elizabeth[5] (John,[4] John,[3] John,[2] H.[1]) b. in L. July 1, 1730. m. James Kendall 1765. d. April 30, 1828, aged 86. In the History of Sterling by Isaac Goodwin Esq., is found this notice of Elizabeth Kendall, "Our Principal information of the transactions of this olden time was the widow Elizabeth Kendall recently deceased, a venerable matron of superior intelligence, virtue, and exalted piety. She d. April 30, 1828, at the advanced age of 86 years. Our respect for the memory of this interesting woman would not permit us to close the history of this town without a brief notice of one, in whose sympathies in sorrow and in joy we have so often participated. She was b. in Lexington, Mass., in the year 1740 (I have it 1749) of a respectable family by the name of Mason. Being eminently qualified as an instructress of the youth, she came to this place in early life to teach school. Here she remained the residue of her days, having been united in marriage at the age of 25 to Maj. James Kendall, a very worthy and respectable citizen of Sterling, whom she survived sixteen years. Possessing by nature a vigorous mind, highly improved by careful cultivation and extensive reading and an accute knowledge of character, her judgment was correct, and her perceptions rapid and discriminating. Her imagination was lively, but was held in control by prudence and reason. She was a communicant of the Church of Christ for nearly 70 years and the principles of Christianity directed her actions and regulated her powerful sensibilities. Amid the trials of varing life she bore prosperity with moderation, and adversity without repining. She was cheerful without levity, pious without bigoty, and grave without repulsive austerity. Her conversation was peculiarly interesting and instructive to the young, and even the aged bowed down to her with reverential deference and respect. She was a safe counsellor, a prudent guide, and a valued friend. Exemplary in all her moral and social relations, her neighbors venerate her memory, and her children call her blessed. In her last illness she was patient and resigned to the will of her creator. Supported by that faith she had so long professed, in the full exercise of her mental powers her exit was tranquil and full of hope. Her posterity were not numerous. She left two sons, one a respected Physician at Sterling and the other is the eminent theologian who presides over the ancient church at Plymouth, Mass. Of her two daughters the eldest married Cap. John Porter of Sterling, and the other Rev. Mr. Mason of Northfield, Mass. Mrs. Mason died in early life." If this is all true, and I do not doubt it, surely it is a life that the Master will bless, and we might copy with profit. I wish that this record might contain the history of the lives of many such men and women. Her granddaughter Mary P. Davis also gave me some facts about Elizabeth's family which will be given below. She had one son a physician at Sterling, another Rev. James Kendall of Plymouth Unitarian church. Lydia Kendall m. Rev. Thomas Mason a graduate of Harvard College, Cambridge, Mass. and a native of Princeton, Mass. Mary Kendall m. Cap. John Porter of Sterling. Mary (Kendall) Porter and John Porter had Mary Porter who m. — Davis. Mary Davis has a granddaughter Hellen Mansfield of Dedham, Mass. who has furnished many facts of interest. The following history of Rev. James Kandall was taken from Historic and Genealogical Register.

Rev. James Kendall D. D. b. in Sterling, Mass. d. at Plymouth, Mass., March 17, at the age of 89 y. 4m. 14d. He was the youngest son of Elizabeth (Mason) Kendall. He was nearly fitted to enter Harvard university at the age of 14 under the instruction of Rev. Ruben Holcomb, the minister of Sterling, but his eyes failed him in consequence of close application he was obliged for several years to give up the hope of obtaining an education. From that time until he was nearly 21 he worked on his father's farm in summer and when old enough taught school. His eyes recovered their strength and returning to his studies he prepared to enter College where he graduated in 1796. He was appointed assistant teacher in Phillips Acadamy at Andover and was subsequently tutor of Greek in the College. He m. 1st, Sarah Poor dr, of Deacon Daniel Poor of Andover June 1800. She d. 182. Benjamin[6] (Marshall,[5] Elias,[4] Joseph,[3] Joseph,[2] H.[1]) b. at Pomfret, Vt., March 31, 1804. d. unm. at Woodstock, Jan. 15, 1871. Was a favorite artist in Vermont. When he was nine years old necrosis manifested itself in one of his lower limbs, which made it necessary for him to undergo a surgical operation. During convalescence the foundation was laid for his work. Pomfret was a rural town north of Woodstock. The district school was kept up. Religious orders were sustained and a library was enjoyed. Benjamin's father brought him books from the library. To amuse and to cultivate a taste for art, Tom War suggested drawing. The engravings of animals and portraits of authors became his copies. Doddridge, Franklin, Jefferson, and even the skeleton in the Almanac were sketched with pen and ink, a lead pencil not having been invented until two years later. He expressed a desire to paint and his father bought him paints and brushes. This was the beginning of his water color work. At school he drew and painted maps. At the age of 14 he painted from life his school teacher's portrait.

The lad Tom War picked up knowledge from Abram Tuttle, another portrait painter, of Pomfret, and communicated what he learned to his friend Mason. At 16, he painted his first oil painting, a portrait of his father, which was preserved until 1830 when the same canvas was used for another.

The next year he taught school in Rochester. He attended the Rochester Academy. In 1825, he painted in some families in Pomfret and later at Hartford, Peacham, Newport, Croydon and at other towns in N. H. as well as Vt. In 1828, he painted in Montpelier. In 1831 he went to Burlington. He received instruction from J. G. Cole of Newport, Mass., from whom he gained a better knowledge of methods. Following his advice he came to Meddlebury in May. After a few days he received his first order from Nelson Rogers; others followed and in fifteen or sixteen months he had painted more than twenty portraits; he painted in Vincennes, spent some time in the vicinity of Montpelier and Woodstock, and again went to Vergennes where he spent two years. From V. by the advice of friends in Boston he went to Rutland in 1836 and painted there that summer. Rev. M. Fay of Vergennes gave him a letter of introduction to his brother, Judge Fay of Cambridge, Mass., where he went in the fall and painted at the house of the Judge a portrait of the Judge and another of Miss Laman a southern lass. He was introduced to Harding, Alexander and Franklin Dexter a lawyer and painter and the artist Alleton. He remained in Troy three years painting Jonas C. Hart, Major Tibbets for the city, D. T. Seymon and wife and many others. After again visiting Woodstock and Montpelier and spending some time in study at New York, in the winter of 1840-1. He received an invitation to visit Rev. M. Tilden, then principal of the seminary at Middlebury.

His work at that time included a group of Mr. Tilden's three daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Tilden, Mr. Rufus Wainright's family, a dozen or more pictures, Oliver Norton, General Warren Hastings, Mrs. Battell and children and numerous others. Upon the invitation of Edward Warren he resided for a year or two in Buffalo. He also painted Joseph Warren and Mrs. John Wainwright and daughter. (In 1844 he was in Middleburry). In 1846 he painted Rev. Dr. Merrill, Mr. Seymour, Judge Swift, Mr. Ira Stewart and a little later Mr. Stone and Mrs. Sever. In 1856, he painted Julius A. Beckwith. In 1865 Eliza Stewart and perhaps at the same time, Paris Fletcher, Pres. Kitchell and lady. In Rutland, Montpelier, Woodstock, Vingennes, St. Albens, Burlington, Brattleboro, Bennington and many other places he met a cordial reception and flattering appreciation. His secret of success was in labor. He was diligent, firm in friendships, gentle, kind, and polite. A lover of nature. Religiously he favored the Episcopal Church. He aimed to educate and elevate the tastes and thoughts of the people among whom he lived and labored not only by his art but also by his life and conversation.

This sketch is taken from a lengthy article found in the New England Gen. and His. Register of July, 1872. I have tried in a more concise notice to give the facts found there.

232. Luther[7] (Willard,[6] Ebenezer,[5] Jonas,[4] John,[3] John,[2] H.[1]) b. at Turner, Me., Apr. 2, 1818. m. Hannah Allen in Baltimore, Md. Oct. 1844. She was b. in Dover, Mass., Oct. 1820. After the death of his father, he lived with a half-brother and pursued his studies, including Latin and Greek, while working. Dr. Ephraim Cutler, M. D., L. L. D., of New York writes of him: "Early in youth Prof. Mason taught music. His desire was to go to foreign lands as a missionary. Circumstances interfering, he confined himself to music. He taught music in Delaware and Maryland before 1850. Later in Louisville, Ky., as music director in the public schools. About 1858, he went to Cincinnati, O., and attained great success in the management of large numbers of children. It has been said that there is no man living who can handle children as he did at will. His work at Cincinnati has borne splendid fruit. Some regard the formation of its splendid conservatory as due to Mr. Mason's efforts and results with children's music in the public schools. In 1864, he was called to teach in Boston. Here he had the training of teachers and made a good record. When he was leaving for Japan, he had a farewell reception, which was presided over by the Hon. F. O. Prince, the Mayor. Mr. C. C. Perkins as chairman of the Music School committee and others presented him with beautiful gifts showing the high estimation they had for his work. On his return from Japan he was given an equally cordial reception at the New England Conservatory of Music, His Honor, Mayor Palmer, of Boston, presiding. Rev. Joseph Cook, the greatest public lecturer in America, tells many surprising results which followed

Mr. Mason's labors. Dr. Lowell Mason, the father of modern church music in America, after watching his namesake teach on one occasion, slapped him on the shoulder and said, 'I could not do that. There is only one man in the world who can and that is you.' Another has said one of his assistants. 'He has undeniably the gift of pedagogy in its highest and purest form. So he understands how to instruct others in the art of teaching.' While in Japan, the Empress publicly thanked him for his work. some of which was classed in public schools, teachers' classes, Pianoforte lessons and director of an orchestra of European and Japanese instruments, tuning in the homes of the nobility, lessons in singing to Kalakua, King of the Sandwich Islands, while the latter was then on a visit, and tri-weekly meetings with the commission of His Majesty, the Mikado's household musicians and poets to whom he played music mostly of German. German folk-songs are now sung in Japanese all over the Empire. He procured by imperial edict the substitution of the European diatonic scale for the five-toned scale. On leaving Japan the Mikado presented him with a magnificent pattern of gold cloth. Such distinctions as were accorded to him included the Doctor's degree of the Tokio University in Japan. He traveled in Europe four times in order to discover a possible way to make improvements and extensions. His patience was simply wonderful. He spent four months in Berlin on his fourth visit in order to study the methods of Prof. Albert Beck. He spent week after week attending classes in Leipzig. Here as usual he met with success. In May 1891, he was invited to give an address at the monthly meeting of the Leipzig Music Teachers Association, a highly intellectual, but very conservative body. Mr. Harry Brett was interpreter. The result was gratifying. The leading men and critics paid him the highest compliments. Prof. Dr. Hermann Kretschmar, music director and organist to the university, and conductor of St. Paul's University, the Riedal and other celebrated musical societies invited him again to address them, which he did with the same happy result. This committee declared Mr. Mason to be a true pedagogue in the highest sense of the word. The outcome of the labors of this special committee, which terminated its work in Nov. 1871, was the publishing of a German edition of the work. The idea of an American music course being so warmly taken up in Germany, the land of music and pedagogy, shows how thorough the work was and was most gratifying to friends, with many of whom he could only converse through an interpreter. Mr. Mason's character as a man has helped him. Always stern looking when in repose, his whole face fairly shone, his eyes light up with kindly warmth when he sees an opportunity for doing good. These facts are taken from an article by Harry Brett, Leipzig, Germany."

Jan. 6, 1829 at Rome, Ind., and d. Feb. 26, 1883, at Cannelton, Ind. Had no ch. He d. June 11, 1895. He was a republican and a U. S. Commissioner First Div-Indian Territory. He was a gentleman in every way deserving of great praise. For more than 30 years Mrs. Mason was a resident of Cannelton. During all this time except when prevented by declining health she was active in every good cause. The efficient advocate of local and public enterprise, the friend of the humble and needy and the comforter of the afflicted. The distinguishing feature of her character was unselfishness. To unusual personal attraction, she united a mind of singular vigor and clearness. Her executive ability and efficiency were wonderful. She was an influential contributor to the papers. She was agreeable and sympathetic. Seeking the comfort, the good and happiness of others, she ignored her own ease, and sought by kindly acts and words to pour a flood of sunshine on the darkened path of the suffering and unhappy, which proved the truth of her Christian profession. The love she bore for others was reciprocated. I have gathered these facts from an article written by her husband.

318. H F.—Charles[7] (Thaddeus,[6] Thaddeus,[5] Benjamin,[4] Joseph,[3] Joseph,[2] H.[1]) b. in Dublin, N. H., June 3, 1810. Attorney and counsellor at law Fitchburg, Mass. Prepared for College at Phillips Academy, Exter, N. H. Graduated at Harvard College 1834, and at Harvard Law School in 1839. Was tutor in Latin department of the Harvard University from 1835 to 1840. Read law at the Dean Law School, Cambridge and in the office of Messrs. Hubbard and Watts, Boston. A. M. in 1837. L. L. B. in 1839. Admitted at Boston, Sep. 1839 to practice law in the courts of the state, and in the courts of the U. S. Remained in B. till May 1841,when he opened an office in Lancaster, Mass., and in Sep. 1842 removed to Fitchburg. Was J. P. in 1842 and in June 1842, appointed one of the standing Commissioners of Bankruptcy for the Mass. District, under the U. S. Bankruptcy law in Aug. 1845.

Master in Chancery and in July 1851, a Commissioner of Insolvency for the County of Worcester. Representative in 1849 and 1851. A member of the Constitutional Convention in 1853, to revise the Constitution of Mass. From 1864 to 1869 was secretary of the F. Mutual Fire Insurance Co. He m. Aug. 9, 1853, Caroline Atherton Briggs, the youngest dr. of Dr. Calvin and Rebecca (Monroe) Briggs of Marblehead, Mass. She d. June 13, 1890. He m. 2nd, Mrs. Henretta M. (Wheeler) Newcomb at Amenia, N. Y., June 22, 1892. I give below some items taken from the Fitchburg Sentinel of June 14, 1890. Before the age of 20 she began to develop her poetical talent.

Under the signature of "Caro" she contributed regularly to the Salem Register. Under that signature and in that paper appeared verses which were soon known throughout all English speaking countries, the words of the song "Do They Miss Me At Home." These words were set to music, both in this country and in England and a handsome sum was realized by certain parties, but Mrs. Mason never received anything—not even the credit of the authorship. A few years ago, however, there appeared in "The Literary World," a sketch of Mrs. Mason in which her authorship of these words was affirmed and substantiated. One result of this was that she received letters from all parts of the country asking for her autograph, together with a stanza or two of the song.

She also early contributed to the National Era, Anti-Slavery Standard and The Commonwealth and just previous to her marriage she published through Phillips Sampson & Co., Boston, a volume of verses to which much favor was accorded. Soon after removing to Fitchburg she was m. to Charles Mason. For the last 30 years they have resided in their present home, Laurel Hill, one of the sightliest and best situations in town. She was a welcome contributor to most of the leading magazines and many religious and secular papers. Her work in prose has been slight, embracing anonymous Sunday School story "Rose Hamilton," published in 1859, a serial "Letty's Pathway or Following On," which appeared in the Boston Recorder in 1866, and occasionally short stories and sketches. But her work in verse has been considerable. Whatever she writes is inspiring. Her poem "Waking" which begins "I have done at length with dreaming" was the means early in its career of transforming at least one young woman from a butterfly life to a thoughtful character. "Only Me" received the widest editorial favor. Mrs. Mason has written some of the best hymns of the century. The sonnet form is a favorite with her of late and has been used to fine purpose. Her standing as a poet has been appreciated as shown by press notices and also by letters written to her by individuals prominent in learning and literature. Among these are two which she prizes highly. One a graceful note by Alfred Tennyson, thanking her for her sonnet "Tennyson and the Violets." The second was a note from Charles Sumner expressing his sincere appreciation of a poem written by her. This poem was written after reading his speech which was to have been delivered in Faneuil Hall, Sep. 3, 1872. Another poem written by Mrs. Mason on the occasion of his great emancipation speech delivered at Worcester in 1861, was so highly esteemed by Mr. Sumner that he caused it to be printed in connection with his speech, and it may be found in his published works. She was most generous with contributions to grace festal occasions and to lend cheer and comfort to scenes of sadness. Always willingly responded to the call made upon her talent to furnish poems for occasions both public and private. The poems she has written relating to Fitchburg and its citizens would make a volume. Among the best and most popular of her poems are "The Lost Ring," "Eureka," "Heirship," "En Voyage," "Be Like the Sun," "Waking," "We Three," "Not Yet," "Dernier Ressort," "Nature and Poet," "Do They Miss Me at Home," "Sonnets of the Months."

All her writings have been moral, intellectual and elevating in character.

OFFICIAL AND WAR RECORD

"With patient hardihood
By toil and strife and blood,
The soil was won."

From the time Hugh Mason was chosen selectman in 1638 until now there have been many titled soldiers and honored politicians and civil officers in this family.

An examination of the records of the Bay State Colony displays the fact that the gradual development of our military organization had their rise for the greater part in the defense of distant and sparsely populated settlements, and owed their inspiration to the united action of town and church. "The Minute Men were of a later organization, not earlier than 1773. The alarm list had for special purpose the defense of town and church against attacks by the Indians. The town provided the powder and ball, each man owned his rifle or shot gun, but was responsible to the town for the use of the ammunition, none of which was to be used for private purpose as hunting game."

Each Sunday the men of the alarm list brought their guns, powder and ball to church. After morning service they were inspected by one of the deacons and any deficiency in ammunition was to be paid for by the men found to be deficient. In some towns, perhaps in all, a small building was set apart, usually in the cemetery, where the town arms, powder and ball were kept. The Minute Men of 1773 were originally composed of about one third of the members of the train band company. They were to be ready to respond at a minutes notice to proceed to any threatened point of attack or danger without waiting for the gathering of the company. The organization was first established by what was called the "Liberty Men" of each town against British attacks, and later the town company as a whole took the name of Minute Men as was the case at Lexington and Concord.

Benjamin Osgood Pierce says I may make mention of a curious document discovered among some loose papers in the court house at Cambridge (Mass.). It bears no date but announces to the court the choice on the part of the "Train band" of Lieutenant Mason as Captain, and Sargeant Beeres as Lieutenant, and then gives the names of forty-one persons who, according to an endorsement, had taken the oath of fidelity at Watertown. A reference to the court records shows that the appointment of Captain Mason and Lieutenant Beers was confirmed 5 mo 1653. The document is as follows: "Let this honored court know that wee the traine band of Watertown have chosen Lieutenant Ma-

ANOTHER RECORD

"The Generall Court of Massachusetts collany in New England to Hugh Mason, Captain.

We doe hereby constitute and appoint you captaine of a foot company to be raysed in the jurisdiction, as volunteers, by beate of drum for the asistance of the Honorable Colonel Rich (Richard) Nichols Sr. Robert Carr &c. (George Cartwright and Samuel Meverich) his Majesties comissioners, in reducing the Dutch at the Monhatoes into obedience of his majestye—These are therefore to will and require you forthwith to attend that service, in raysing of an hundred man for soldjers & they being raysed are to take the charge of them as their captaynes & diligently to intend that service, and exercise your inferior officers and soldjers in arms comanding them to obey you as their captaine for the service aforesaid & you to obey such orders, directions and instructions as you shall receive from time to time from this court & the honorable commissioners, according to the discipline of war." Given under the hand of Governor John Endicott and Edward Ranson, Provisional secretary, with the seal of the colony affixed, the 9th day of August, 1664.
(Col. Rec. Vol. 4. p. 448.)

The General Court of Massachusetts to our loving friends Cap. Hugh Mason & Cap. Wm. Hudson.

Whereas you & each of you are chosen & appointed comanders in chief in referince to ye forces now to be raised (of Voluntary soldjers) not exceeding two hundred, to assist in his majesties service in the reducing the Monhatoes as by an order of ye General Court may appeare, these are in his majesties name to comissionate and empower you forthwith to endeevor the service aforesaid, and to this end you may or shall, by beat of drum or drums in each of the towns & plantations within this jurisdiction of the Massachusetts proclayme & publish this your power & commission: and have under your command & conduct all such persons as shall willingly lyst themselves for that service, and also to nomunate appoint & empower all inferior officers necessary for that service & then to order, command and prepare, so that they, with yourselves, may be ready upon the march by the twentieth insnt.

—Col. Rec. Vol. 4. P. 446.

Mr. C. F. Mason says: In 1664 an expedition was sent out by the King to subdue the New Netherlands in compliance with the duties of his brother the Duke of York arrived in Boston Harber late in July, and demand was made for reenforcement: A special session of the General Court was called. The colony was unwilling to afford the assistance asked, but finally the Court voted to raise two hundred men for the purpose, and to place them under the leadership of two commanders in chief. Captain Mason was a deputy at this Court and his name was sent to the Assistants for approval.

The Assistants agreed to the nomination and named Cap. William Hudson as their choice. The two captains received their commissions and immediately set about the enlistment of their men. But the expedition could not wait; the ships sailed for Long Island. Poor old Peter Stuyvesant could not make his Dutch burghers fight, and the Monkatoes, surrendered without a blow. The Massachusetts men were disbanded without receiving marching orders, and the two commanders in chief quietly laid aside their high sounding titles for those to which they were better accustomed. A war in which he did not engage for which I am very thankful. It was a war of conquest in time of peace. On he part of the colonies it was an unwilling duty as subjects of the mother country."

NOTES FROM WATERTOWN, MASS. RECORDS

Items pertaining to the church, the Lands, Grants, and Possessions are given elsewhere.

He was also appointed to investigate and regulate the claims for assistance of disabled soldiers, and the court acted upon his recommendations. Was one of a "committee of three to Provide a plan of defense of Middlesex County" a long report of whose recommendations is yet in existence. He also held the rank of Lieutenant in the Gentlemen of Middlesex.

These facts have been taken from the town books and from Mr. C. F. Mason's record. It is very interesting to trace these records.

This takes the record up to book 3 of Watertown Records or to 1727-8.

John Mason -2- Was a lieutenant and Selectman.

John Mason -4- Town clerk for 1729-34-35-36 and selectman for about the same time; was also Justice of the Peace; also an Ensign.

Joseph -6- Justice of the Peace and town clerk. Was also chosen representative in 1733-34 and was much employed in conveyancing and in town administration.

John -7- He was a magistrate and Selectman in 1755.

Thaddeus -8- Was private Secretary to Gov. Belcher, from whom in 1730 he received the commission of deputy Naval Office for the Post of Boston. He was Justice of the Peace until his death in 1736; Clerk of Common Pleas for the Co. of Middlesex and had the office 50 years. He was also register of Deeds for the Co. for several years.

Samuel—son of 10—d. in the army at Stilwater, N. Y., Sep. 1777.

Jonas -9- "Jonas Mason's capacities and trustworthyness in Public business were soon appreciated by his townsmen (North Yarmouth)." After the town became incorporated, and the committee for resettling the town-ship had resigned their office and committed the farther control and conveyance of the unappropriated wild lands to the legal inhabitants, it was found necessary to choose a committee of three proprietors to superintend this business, of which Judge Mason was one, and was elected clerk of the same. For many years he either held this or the treasurer's office; meanwhile he was often town assessor and one of the selectman. In 1752 he was appointed justice of the peace for York Co., and in 1760 for Cumberland Co. In Apr. 1764 and Aug. 1765 he was appointed to act as a special Justice of the Court of Common Pleas for Cumberland Co. In 1773 upon the retirement of Hon. Edward Milliken from the bench of the Court of Common Pleas for Cumberland Mr. Mason was appointed to succeed him.

His associates in office were Jeremiah Powell, Chief Justice, and Enoch Freeman and Moses Pearson, as associate Justices.

After the Declaration of Independence the General Court of Mass. assumed control of the colonial and county offices. Only two of the pre-revolutionary Judges of the court resigned their seats; one of these was Jonas Mason. His resignation however was most probably for the practical reason that the pay was meager. In those qualities which made him a substantial person, he was not behind his associate. He died in his early home at the age of 93.

John-11- Assessor, selectman, member of the Provincial Congress 1774-1775. Representative to Gen. Court, Justice of the Peace for years.

Ebenezer -18- Cap. in the Rev. War, and was in the company which marched to Cambridge, Mass., Apr. 19, 1775. Was employed in civil affairs of responsibility.

Joseph -20- Was town clerk from 1770-1790. He served in French War 1762 and was a member of the company in the fight at Lexington Apr. 19, 1775. His brother

Daniel was a Rev. pensioner, belonged to the band which refused to lay down their arms Apr. 10, 1775.

Samuel -26- held the position of Collector of Customs for North Yarmouth for 36 years. His first commission was from King George III. After the Rev. he was re-commissioned to the same office by Pres. Washington.

Moses-37- represented the town of Bethel, Me. in Gen. Court 1813-1817. Rev. Soldier. One of the "Green Mountain Boys." Fought under Gen. Stark in the battle of Bennington. I find in the New Hampshire records, Moses Mason in Cap. Joseph Parker's company, Col. N. Hale's Reg. 1776 marched to Ticonderoga. Marched to relieve same place in Cap. John Mellin's com. June-July 1777; from July to Sep. 1777 in Cap. Salmon Stone's Co. At Bennington and Stillwater. He went under Col. Daniel Reynolds in 1781 to West Point. May 5, 1786 he gave a receipt for rations and travil money to Springfield, Mass. Removed to Dublin.

Jonas—42—was a Sergeant in Rev. Army.

Joseph—43—was in the company that fired the first shot in Rev. War at Lexington bridge, Boston on Apr. 19, 1775. He served seven years in that war. Was honorably discharged and paid off in continental money at the close of the war in 1787. Was a Fifer in the Lexington Alarm roll of Cap. Wm. Smith's Co., Col. Abijah Pierce's Reg. Vol. 13. Page 96. Served as private on muster roll of Capt. Wm. Smith's Co., Col. John Nixon's Reg. Enlisted Apr. 24, 1775. Time of service 3 mo. 1 d. Res. Lincoln, Eight mo. service—Vol. 16. page 39. Served as Corporal on muster roll of Cap. Smith's Co., Col. J. Nixon's Reg. Enlisted July 18, 1775. Time of service 13d. Promoted July 18, 1775. Eight mo. service. Vol. 16. page 39. Served as Corporal on Company's return of Cap. Smith's Co. Vol. 56, page 28. Appears in descriptive list, aged 24 years, Stature five feet three inches. Town of Lincoln. In Cap. Farrows Co., Col. Brook's Reg. July 17, 1778. Vol. 28, page 16. What is given in Vol. 2, page 133-129 must return to another. Taken from the Index to the Rev. War Archives of Mass. Given by the State Sec. 1895.

Elijah brother of -43- was in the battle of Bunker Hill. He was a fifer in Cap. Adam Wheeler's Company and Col. John Nixon's Reg., Aug. 1776. He was also a Revolutionary pensioner. He was also a Cap. of company in the war of 1812.

William—44—The commissions of Wm. Mason are first:

"To William Mason—Greeting. Reposing special trust and confidence in your Loyalty, courage and good conduct, I do, by virtue of the power vested in me, hereby appoint you to the office of a Serjeant in a Company of Artillery in the County of Washington and Territory of the United States Northwest of the River Ohio. You are therefore carefully and diligently to discharge the duty of a Serjent for which this shall be your sufficient warrant, and all inferior officers and Soldiers of said Company, are hereby commanded to obey you as such, and you are yourself to observe and follow such orders and instructions as you shall from time to time receive from one of your superior officers. Given under my hand and Seal at Marietta, the County of Washington and Territory of the United States Northwest of the River Ohio, this 23 day of May in the year of our Lord 1790. E. Sproat Lut. Commanding the Militia Washington County. The other commissions are: Second—William Mason Lieutenant of Militia in the county of Washington Aug. 5, 1797, signed by Winthrop Sargent, Sec. Third—appointing William Mason gentleman "Lieutenant in the first Regiment of militia in the county of Was., dated June 13, 1801, signed by Arthur St. Clair. Fourth—is signed by Edward Tiffin, Gov. and William Creighton, Sec. of State, appointing William Mason Captain in the first regiment and bears the date 18 of Aug. 1803. The fifth is signed the same appointing him Captain in the eighth company of the first Brigade of the third division of the militia in the county of Washington and is dated Apr. 28, 1804.

Thaddeus—45—Selectman in 1780-1783-1784-1793 and was 1st Selectman in 1798 and 1802. Was Rep. in 1795, 1798, 1799, 1800.

Joseph—46—The N. H. record is Joseph Mason a member of Capt. Salmon Stone's company, Moses Nichols' regiment, which marched to Bennington and Stillwater, 1777. Died in Dublin.

Benjamin—47—From the N. H. records: Benjamin Mason was fifer in Capt. Salmon Stone's Company, Col. Moses Nichols' regiment, July 21 to Sep. 25, 1777. This regiment went to Bennington and Stillwater. Died in Dublin.

Moses—52—He belonged to the 10th Mass. Reg., Continental army. Col. of 3rd Mass. Infantry.

Isaac—son of 52—held a Major's commission in the state militia. He was also selected as selectman of Westbrook in the year of 1832, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 42.

Jonathan—56—He served in the Rev. War, marching to Canada under Arnold. Was present at the taking of Burgoyne at Providence, New London, and Groten in Apr. 1779. Entered the Naval service. Rev. Pensioner. Justice of the Peace. Member for several years of the N. H. Legislature.

Joseph—brother of 56—Died in the army Oct. 1776.

Charles—60—He acted as Captain of Militia. Was Justice of the Peace.

Ebenezer—61——Was a soldier in the Rev. War.

Joseph—64—Was elected treasurer for Spencer in 1816 and for five years afterward.

Thomas—66—He was Selectman and assessor at Cambridge, Mass.

Josiah—67—Held the office of Selectman and was an assessor. His father, John, is said to have been a Major.

Ebenezer—72—Revolutionary soldier and pensioner.

Jonas—brother of 72—d. in Pa., while in the U. S. army, Mar. 1778. After Jonas' death another brother was named for him.

Jonas—73—Served in the war of 1812 and was Sheriff and Justice, and member of Legislature from 1838-9. He lived at Thomastown, Me., and Somerville, N. J.

Elephalet—106—Major in Battalion of militia.

Josiah—129—Probate Judge of Burt Co., Neb., three terms (6y.) and Justice of the Peace.

Rufus—132—Postmaster at Chesaning, Mich. Was Highway Commissioner twenty years, Justice of the Peace four years, Township Clerk ten years and the first President of the Village.

Rufus—157—He resided in Sullivan where he was selectman of the town. He also represented the town in the State Legislature two years, viz: 1840-1841.

Charles—269—Internal Revenue officer.

Charles—318—Justice of the Peace in 1842 and in 1842 was appointed one of the standing Committee of Bankruptcy for the Mass. District under the U. S. Bankrupt law in Aug. 1845. In Aug. 1855, Master in Chancery; and in July 1851 a Commissioner of Insolvency for the Co. of Worcester. Rep. in 1849-1851. Delegate to the Constitutional Convention 1853.

Charles—350—Represented the town of Sullivan in the Legislature 1869-70. Served as selectman several terms. Held a justice of the Peace's commission about 40 years. Held several other offices in the town, both civil and military. Removed to Marlborough, N. H., where he held offices and positions of trust. Was selectman, etc.

Amos—377—of Marlborough, N. H., was elected representative two years and Selectman sixteen years.

The descendants of Cap. Hugh Hason also bore an honorable part in the War of the Rebellion. They were always found in line of duty, and the word of command was law with them. Time and again they were promoted to a higher rank for brave and meritorious work performed. Eleven lives were lost, some other lives were nearly spent and many members of the family, for months, suffered the horrors of prison life in Andersonville, Ga. One died of starvation in Savannah, Ga. Three d. in the Rev. War and one in the Spanish American. Still others went into the army and were never heard from afterward.

"Gov. Dennis divided the State of Ohio into military districts, which were the same as the congressional districts. Each district had over it a district military committee, appointed by the Governor. They appointed a committee of five for each county and the county committee appointed a committee of three in each township. These were men to whom the Governor appealed in emergencies. Their duties were varied and arduous, at times requiring their constant attention to the exclusion of all other business. They served without pay, considering the character and value of the services rendered, deserved to be gratefully remembered." One of this committee appointed from Adams Township, O., was Jonas Mason, the son of William (44). He served four years. There was no one in the Township or County more patriotic than he. In early days he attended the training in the new Territory, Northwest of the River Ohio. He was a strong "abolitionist."

Charles—son of 169—died in the army Sep. 7, 1863. He was in the 14th N. H. Reg.

John—97—Commissioned Col. of 3rd. Reg. of Infantry at Weston, Mass.

John—321—Cap. of N. H. Militia and Representative.

Isaac—son of 52—Major and Selectman in 1836. From the diary of Caleb Bradley we have the following. In Apr. 11, 1836, the vote of Westbrook for Selectman was as follows, Stroadwater District, Whole number 407. Necessary for choice 204. Isaac Mason, who resides at Bradley's Corner 284, James Johnson, westerly of Stroadwater 119, scattering 4. This was printed in the "Deering News."

Royal—241—Enlisted as a private from Southton, Mass., in Co. I., 12th Mass. Vol Inf. in Apr. 1861. This regiment was commanded by Col. Fletcher Webster, son of Daniel Webster. He served as a noncommissioned officer until Oct. 8, 1862, when he was commissioned 2nd Lieutenant for gallant service at Antietam, in which battle his Co. lost 9 killed, 22 wounded and 1 missing out of 35 men who went into the fight and the three remaining, to take the colors off the field were each of them hit but not wounded. There is perhaps not another case on record where every member of a company was wounded or hit in one battle. In March 1863 he was detailed as Asst. Provost Marshal of the 2nd Div. 1st Army Corps, on the staff of Major General J. C. Robinson and in Apr. of that year was made Provost Marshal of that Div. He was mustered out July 8, 1864 as Brevt. Capt.

Lyman—son of 87—enlisted as Vol. in 1862, was taken prisoner in 1862 and placed in Andersonville. He died of starvation at Savannah, Ga., Oct. 23, 1864.

The Reg. was in the 2nd Corps 1st Brig. 3rd Div. Was in the Battle of Resaca New Hope, Ga., Hennesau, and the siege of Atlanta.

Philip—408—In Aug. 1862 he enlisted in Capt. John A. Staley's Co., went into camp at Iowa City. Mustered in, Oct. 19, 1862, assigned to Co. F. of the 28th Reg. Iowa V. I. Left Iowa City, Nov. 8, 1862 for Helena, Ark., by the way of Davenport, Mt. Rose and Keokuk, Iowa. Their camp a little better than a swamp, and better suited to alligators than men. A part of the 28th under Maj. Lynch joined the command of Gen. A. P. Hovey and started for Oakland, Miss., to aid Gen. Grant; then attempted to take Vicksburg, in the rear by the way of Holly Springs, Granada and Jackson. He was out about ten days on this trip marching over roads made dreadful by the frequent storms. Skirmished at Coldwater, Tallehache and Oakland (A small town on the Memphis and Jackson R. R.). After camping in town one night was ordered back to Helena. Was then assigned to go with Sherman to Vicksburg. Just as they were ready to start small pox was found to be in the Reg. and they were left behind and sent to the Bluffs. The Reg. having recovered, was on Jan. 11, 1863, made a part of Gen Gorman's expedition up the White River to Duvalls Bluff. While the fleet was going up to Clarenden the weather was stormy. First it rained for hours then it turned to blinding snow. The cold was intense. The decks of the boat covered with snow and crowded with soldiers, whose clothing, wet with rain and snow froze, chilling the man and causing intense suffering. They returned to Helena on the 23 of Jan. Feb. 14, 1863 went with Washburn to remove obstructions from the Yazoo Pass. Apr. 11, the 28th, 24th Iowa, 56th Ohio, 47th Ind., and two Batteries of Artillery formed the 2nd Brig. 12th Div. 13th Army Corps, with Gen. McClellan in command started on the campaign, which in a little less than three months resulted in the capture of Vicksburg. May 1, 1863, near Port Gibson, Miss. they met the enemy in force. In this engagement Mr. Mason had a finger partly shot away. The enemy returned, and was followed fighting at Edward's Station, Raymond, Clinton and Jackson, Sherman capturing the city. At the battle of Champlain Hills, Mr. Mason's Co. went in to the fight with 50 men and came out with 8 killed, 8 taken prisoner and 12 wounded, Sherman taking Vicksburg on the 4th of July 1863. After this Mr. Mason took sick of Malaria fever and was sent to Reg. Hospital and afterward to Jefferson Barracks, Missouri, from thence to Benton Barracks. Remained there until spring of 1864, when he was transferred to the Veteran Reserve Corps and was assigned to Co. E. 11th V. R. C. The Co. was ordered to Washington, D. C. Passed through Cincinnati and Columbus, O., and by the B. & O. R. R., through Wheeling, W. Va. When near Piedmont they were surrounded by Guerrillas, the trained burned and they were captured, but afterward recaptured by other (union) troops from Washington, D. C. to Alexandria, Va., and Point Lookout, Md. to guard Rebel Prisoners. Mr. Mason made two trips with prisoners to Elmira, N. Y. Did duty eight miles south of Boston for one month. Discharged July 9, 1865. Home to Iowa by way of Albany, N. Y., having served 3 years lacking 1 mo. and 3 days.

Dwight—brother of 408—He enlisted in Toledo, Iowa on the 9th of Sep. 1861. In Iowa City he joined the 10th Iowa Inf., Co. D. Was there two weeks; after which he went to St. Louis, was mustered into the U. S. service. Was in camp at Cape Geradean and wintered at Birds Point; from thence to New Madrid and Island No. 10, which they took about Apr. 7. He was transferred to Co. C. about Mar. 2, 1862. Went to Ft. Pillon and Corinth where he joined Grant's army. Was present at the siege and capture of that place under command of Gen. Pope. After the evacuation Mr. Mason was sick and went to Jefferson Barracks and hospital from July to Jan. 1863, when he reenlisted in the 1st Miss., Morine Brig. Co. A. Calvary. Was with them until mustered out. Took part in the fighting before and at the capture of Vicksburg. He was appointed Corporal in Co. A. Cav. When the Co. was organized the 17th of June, he was appointed a Sergeant in the same Co. Held that rank at the time of muster out, which was Aug. 28, 1864, by reason of being a supernumerary non-commissioned officer in consolidating his Co. wih another Co.

George W. Worster—son og 237—Pethnel Mason (236) Louis T. Mason, Samuel Worster and Geo. W. Worster were all in the same Reg. The "Mason Boys" served in Co. D. and Geo. Worster in Co. E. 14th Reg. Me. Vol. Enlisted in Nov. 61. Was mustered in to the U. S. service Dec. 11, 1861. They embarked on the ship North America (A sailing vessel) under sealed orders Feb. 6, 1862 at Boston, Mass., and arrived at Ship Island, Miss., in the Gulf of Mexico, Mar. 8 and were with the land forces in the capture of Fort Jackson and St. Phillips and New Orleans, La. Their first fight was the battle of Baton Rouge, La. The Regiment's loss was about 180. They were in the siege of Port Hudson and nearly all of the battles and skirmishes in the department of the Gulf. The Reg. was home on Veteran Furlough in the winter of 64. Returned to Baton Rouge July 13. Sailed for Bermuda Hundred, Va., incorporated in the command of Gen. Butler. Embarked at B. H. July 31, arrived at Washington Aug. 1, thence to the Shenandoah Valley, Va., by way of Chain Bridge and Leesburg turnpike. Crossed Blue Ridge at Snicker's Gap, forded the Shenandoah river at its base, and joined the army of Gen. Sheridan at Berryville. The official report says the loss killed wounded and prisoners during this campaign comprised one third of the men brought into the Valley. At the battle of Opequan, or Winchester, Va., Sep. 19, 1864, the enemy massed their forces on the center, while on the other side there was but a single line battle and at the time the line was brokn Mr. Geo. Worster was severely wounded and taken prisoner, his side arms were taken and retaken by the Sergt. Major of the Reg. Later in the day the Reg. fell back, formed a new line and while struggling against great odds to hold the enemy in check Pethnel Mason was shot through the body, the ball passing through his back. When he was struck he fell back into the arms of Lemuel N. Worster. Geo. Worster was promoted to Cap. and discharged in 1865. There were three of the Worster brothers in the army. The record of the third I did not get. He may have been with the others.

Paul Chandler—son-in-law of 267—see that record.

Lyman Roach—166—At the outbreak of the Civil War he enlisted in the Battery C, First O. V. Light Artillery Co. K. and served to the close of the war. I give the story of his capture and imprisonment as related by him. Cap. M. B. Gary was on the 13th day of Dec. 1864, in position on the west bank of the Savannah river, opposite the head of Hutchinson's Island in Ga. with his Battery C. of the First O. V. L. A. I, being a member of the Battery walked down to the waters edge, looked out in the middle of the stream at a gunboat that had just surrendered and thought I would love to take a pull at one of those fine yawls that were tied along the shore, when Cap. Gary made his appearance on the scene and said, "Roach can you row a boat." I told him that I could and that I was anxious to show him how I could feather my oars. I was a boy 18 years old. Cap. Gary, Lewis Hettinger and myself rowed over and around the gunboat. We started back and decided to drop down on Hutchinson's Island. Landed on the flood gate to a rice field where we were met by an armed force. We, being artillerymen, were unarmed and compelled to surrender. Later we were sent across to the Georgian shore and taken to the old U. S. prison. After about two weeks we were taken across the Savannah to South Carolina and were marched to a village called Poketalego. Were in company with about 300 prisoners of war. After resting for a few hours Cap. Gary and I were put at the head of a column and marched through the town and back of it perhaps one half mile into a small cave under the long branches of a high live oak tree that was covered with moss. We were lined up with thirteen others, Gary and I still at the head. There being fifteen, the same number of guards took their positions in front. The Cap. said to me that this was our last march. Just then the officer in command of the guards stepped to the head of the column and began giving orders in the manual of arms. Just at the firing point a general, I think his name was Hurd, with his aid came in sight, having been informed in the town what was going on and knowing the utter disregard of the rules of war of some of his men, had upon his fleet horse made the race and come in time to save fifteen lives. They were taken back to Poketalego. Later we were taken to Charleston where Gary and I separated, he going to Columbia and I to Florence, S. C. Ninety days later we again met at Anapolis, Md. Released at Wilmington, N. C. March 20, 1865. Was mustered out June 1865. Is Postmaster at Texarkana, Tex. (1909).

William Roach not yet 15 years of age enlisted at Marietta, O. Served 9 mo. in Co. C, 18th O. V. I. Was a member of the G. A. R. Post of Bellefontaine, O.

FACTS IN THE LIFE OF WILLIAM BION MASON

"What hast thou wrought for Right and Truth,
For God and Man
From the golden hours of bright eyed youth
To life's midspan."

—Whittier.

"These are the records half effaced,
Which with the hands of Truth he traced
On history's page."

—Longfellow.

William Bion[7] Mason (305) was b. in Adams Township, Washington Co., Ohio, Aug. 16, 1823 and received most of his education in a country school. He was a bright and ambitious scholar and a great reader, so that he early picked up a good store of information. At the age of 17 he entered college at Meadville, Pa., and after spending two years in study at that place he returned home. Several years of his life were spent in teaching in Washington Co. He had some practical knowledge with "boarding around" and in after years would relate some of his experiences. He was also a remarkably good penman, especially so for those times, so had no difficulty in securing scholars for a select writing school. He taught school one year in Iowa, but was not well there so returned to Ohio.

He married May 25, 1852 Lucetta Bishop, dr. of William and Luna (Sprague) Mason. They bought a house and lot in upper Lowell, O., where they began housekeeping July 15, 1852. The next spring they bought a house and some land, which was a part of his father's farm. They lived there until June 1854, when they moved to Lowell. He had been teaching school there but at this time began to clerk in Mr. Wolf's store. He was elected recorder of Washington Co., and moved his family to Marietta

Nov. 1855. Was reelected in 1858 and served until Jan. 1861, when he resigned and left the office in charge of his clerk Manly Warren, who was elected the next term.

He was made Notary Public for 3 years from May 19, 1859 and Park commissioner for 3 years from May 1, 1876.

William Bion Mason was commissioned Cap. of Co. D. 1st Reg. 3rd Brigade 7 Div., O. V. M. enrolled and mustered July 27, 1861.

On the 23rd of June, pursuant to an order of the adjutant general of the State, a number of Military companies were distributed along the railroad between the city and Athens, O. to guard the Marietta and Cincinnati Railroad, now known as the "Old line." Gen. McClellan fearing that his communications would be interrupted and that his supplies might be cut off by the destruction of the bridge and trestle work on this roalroad, which was an important matter at that time. One of these companies was "The Union Blues" and was commanded by Cap. William B. Mason. This service, although not especially dangerous, was important. They were State troops doing U. S. Work.

Mr. Mason commanded this Co., until Oct. 10, 1861. Resigned and signed muster roll as private in U. S. Army same date.

Was ordered to report at Columbus, O., and on the 11th of Oct. 1861 was mustered in as 2nd Lieutenant and served as such until Dec. 2, 1861 when he was promoted to Captain and ordered to report to Jesse Hilderbrand, Col. of the 77th O. V. I. The description given of him is "5 ft. 8 in. high, dark complexion, dark eyes, dark hair, occupation when enrolled, a County Recorder." Served as Cap. of Co. B. until Aug. 26, 1862 when he was promoted to Maj. and served until Apr. 18, 1863.

At that time he was promoted to Col. in which capacity he served until mustered out Dec. 31, 1864 at the close of the war, making a service of 3 years 5 mo. 4 days. He was wounded and taken prisoner, Apr. 8, 1862, at the battle of Falling Timbers, near Shiloh Church, Tenn. He made his escape in about 20 minutes. Before the siege of Little Rock on Sep. 4, 1863 he met with a severe accident, his horse became entangled in some telegraph wire and became unmanageable, fell and threw the Col., who was severely injured, having two of his ribs broken one of them penetrating the lungs, and his jaw broken in three places, with some other injuries.

He was in the battle of Shiloh, Apr. 6 and 7, 1862, Falling Timbers, Tenn., Apr. 8, 1862, Corinth, Miss., Apr. 30 to May 30, 1862, Little Rock Ark., Sep. 10, 1863, Okolona, Ark., Apr. 3, 1864, Prairie D'Ann, Ark., Apr. 10 to 13, 1864, Marks Mills, Ark., Apr. 25, 1864, Jenkin's Ferry, Ark. Apr. 30, 1864, Spanish Fort, Ala., Mar. 26 to Apr. 8, 1865. The latter were skirmishes. In fact from Little Rock back it was one continuous fight.

After the war he returned to Lowell, O., in Jan. (His family having moved there during his absence) and lived there until the spring, when they moved onto their farm, one mile above Lowell on the opposite side of the Muskingum River. His farm was a part of his grandfather's donation land. The family remained there until the next spring, when he having been elected to Office at that place, again moved to Marietta. He bought property on the west side of third St., South of Sacra Via, where he lived until his death. He was appointed by Andrew Jackson, Assistant Assessor for the 15th district of O., 1st Div., May 1, 1865. He was elected County Treasurer in the fall of 1866 and in 1868 was a candidate for reelection. The election resulted in a tie vote, which was decided by lot, his Democratic competitor, Louis Anderson, being successful in the drawing. In 1870 he was appointed Postmaster at Marietta, by President Grant and served in that capacity two terms or eight years. After that he engaged in the mercantile business with his son William, though he gave but little personal attention to the business on account of ill health.

William Bion Mason, Jr. (511) was b. Jan. 17, 1857 and d. July 6, 1907. Received his schooling in the Public Schools of Marietta. He entered the Post office as clerk under his father at the age of sixteen years and served with the latter during the last five years of his incumbency, as assistant Postmaster. He afterward served some time with S. L. Grovernor and later in the Parkersburg, W. Va., Post office. Later he was engaged in the mercantile line with his father at No. 175 Front Street and continued the business three years after his father's death. While he was in the Postoffice he often took the mails out on the M. C. and C. and other roads from Marietta.

In 1889 he was engaged in the United States Railway Mail Service, over the Baltimore and Ohio Road, first from Grafton to Chicago, then from Pittsburg to Chicago and later from Wheeling to Chicago.

On June 21, 1901 he received an appointment to Chief Clerk. There was a vacancy in the Fifth division. He applied for the position. His records were examined and he was found to stand at the head of the eligible list. He never in all the 18 years stood below 99 in his examinations and nearly always reached the 100 or only a very small fraction below. He had also the endorsement of Senator Foraker, Hon. C. G. Dawes and Gen. Grovenor. He received his first appointment through the efforts of the latter.

He never took a vacation in all that 18 years but for his own or his mother's sickness, but having been in poor health for more than a year, he in May 1907 asked for a release from duty, hoping to recover from nervous exhaustion caused from constant travel.

He took a great interest in planning and a pride in building the brick veneer house corner of Third Street and Sacra Via. He was not a member of any church, but was a Christian gentleman. He took a great interest in the new Baptist church which was being built. He was generous hearted and a very warm friend. He loved his home and his devotion to his mother and sister was something beautiful.

Fraternally he was a member of the Knights of Pythias, elected and given Page Rank Aug. 21, 1885. Esqr Rank Aug. 29, 1883. Knights Rank Sep. 7, 1883.

He also belonged to the Putnam St. Artillery 1st Reg. Ohio National Guards. Mustered in as Private Dec. 23, 1881. For five years mustered out Dec. 29, 1886. He was elected an officer in that Reg.

W. B. Mason's (395) record as a Free Mason is given in the resolutions drawn up at the time of his death by his brother masons. He was a Knight Templar and a 32nd Degree Scottish Rite Mason. Had he lived undoubtedly he would have been a 33rd degree man.

He was a charter member of the K. of P. fraternity No. 82. May 27, 1875 and a member of the G. A. R. and I. O. O. F. society June 30, 1873 by invitation. Was elected Noble Grand, July 1875 and Past Grand, Jan. 1876. He was a member until his death. On account of failing health did not attend regular. He was converted and upon profession of faith in Christ, was baptized Dec. 15, 1855 at Lowell, O., and joined the Baptist Church at Marietta Jan. 25, 1856. He was a regular attendant and liberal contributor, not only to his own church, but to all calls for charity and help. He was almost too liberal and was inclined to trust the promises of others too much, often doing so to his own financial injury. Not a few knew to whom to apply for aid and he did not deny them even when he sometimes knew they would never pay what they borrowed.

As Col. he was greatly beloved by all his men, and shared the fortunes of the regiment through all the hardships and perils of war. He was engaged in a number of hard fought battles, and always did himself and the cause he served great credit. He was one of a committee to write a history of the regiment and his views of the battle of Shiloh, which work he would have entered upon with spirit had he not failed in health so rapidly. I feel it but due to him, that what he has said of that battle, should be repeated. I will not try to decide whether or not that was a surprise, or discuss any of the great questions that have been, and will be, fought over, time and again. His opinion was that some were terribly surprised and others had knowledge without power to help themselves.

To rightly understand their position in that battle a little previous history of the Reg. is necessary. While at Dennison Maj. B. D. Fearing drilled the different companies in facings and some simple movements. Many of them having been under Cap. Mason before were able to help him drill his men in squads, and having a few arms they practiced them in Manual of Arms, loading and firing. He also drilled his men as skirmishers by command and by bugle calls, all of which gave the Co. a Company pride and considerable self-reliance. They were, however, soon ordered out of barracks at Dennison to the tented field at Paducah, Ky. They camped south of P.

It had been raining for days. The ground about P. was described by Gen. Sherman as "Flat as a pancake and as wet as a soaked sponge." After being a few weeks in camp at P. during which time the Reg. with other green regiments were moved once or twice, they were informed on the 16th of March, while the Reg. was on dress parade, that troops were about to go up the Tenn. river and asked if they would take an inferior arm, an old Belgian Musket or Rolfe, and go forward or stay behind and do guard duty. The officers held a consultation and although those who knew the most about the matter knew very well that the Reg. was not in a condition to do themselves or the government justice, unanimously agreed to take the old Belgian Rifle and move forward. The next March found them on board transports which moved up to Pittsburg landing. They were the first of the advance division of the army of the Tenn. in the first expedition at the Tenn. River. The water was so high that they could not make a landing at the mouth of Yellow Creek. A few miles above they disembarked, but the water was rising so fast that, before all the troops and stores were out, fearing lest the lowlands would be overflowed, the troops were recalled and the vessels reloaded and dropped down the river to the bluffs at Pittsburg Landing and commenced digging a road to the top of the bluffs, after which they again attempted to land and finally on the 17th of March they disembarked and moved out to the brow of the hill. On the 18th or 19th the 77th and other regiments were ordered out to transports and again ascended the river to Eastport where about a brigade landed and moved out a mile or a mile and a half. Saw many signs of the enemy and afterward learned that had they gone but a few miles inland they would have been taken in and cared for with the rebels usual hospitable treatment to prisoners. They were however recalled and returned to the landing. The next day or so they went on a march of discovery and near Monteray the 77th came upon the first "Johnnies" when a few arms and empty saddles with one fine horse was captured which was turned over to Gen. Sherman. No prisoners were taken. The next day they were ordered back to camp and duties of camp life. They were employed in clearing and making roads and in loading boats and building bridges. For a time there was no change except to move their camp from the river to the Shiloh Church which was a small rough hewn log building, unchinked and without pulpit or pews. A few rough benches for its worshipers who little thought that around that building the hosts of the North and South should meet in terrible conflict. The groans and shrieks of thousands should go up to heaven instead of prayer and praise. Picket squads were kept in the front at a few yards distance. The army was not in a very good condition to successfully resist the enemy. The troops were mostly raw and the issues were for provisions and for but few axes and no picks or shovels with which a cover could be prepared by the troops. Had these been furnished it would have given the men confidence, which is the foundation of bravery and furnished them with the means of defense. There was also a good many sick from the effects of the impure drinking water and the long stay on board the boat. Company B. under command of Cap. W. B. Mason was ordered for picket duty and went to their post about sundown Friday night. The Company was stationed as the one he relieved except he caused one extra vedette post with a full reserve and a few extra men at picket headquarters. About two o'clock Saturday morning the front was disturbed by a muffled drum roll which sounded no great distance. Some thought one mile, others two or three. Pickets and reserves were all alert the balance of the night, kept so by the noise in front. Thus it was until daylight, when it was discovered that birds and rabbits and other wild game were running or flying by the picket line. They were all coming from the point where the noise had been heard. This to Cap. Mason's mind was conclusive evidence that the enemy was in front in heavy force, but in consequence of the heavy underbrush the enemy was not yet seen although it was certain that the noise of rolling wheels was not far to front. This led him to believe that Artillery was moving up, yet nothing was seen until about one P. M. Saturday. Three rebel cavalrymen moved carefully down the road from the See House within about 75 yards from his vedette post, the calvarymen halted, and when they found they were discovered they fired on the front, planting one ball in a sapling near the head of (then private) John Brown, who with an oath exclaimed "Captain, I believe they are shooting at us." The Captain ordered return fire which order was quickly obeyed. The cavalrymen put spur and one bound of their horses took them out of sight. At about 3 P. M. of the same day on the opposite an old cotton field it was discovered that troops were moving in regimental order from right to left, also two pieces of artillery was seen to move past a very small opening. This was considered of such importance that Cap. Mason selected Sergt (afterward Cap.) Eagler to report at brigade headquarters, that above facts and return to the picket line. There was no paper at hand to make a written report. Eagler executed the order and promptly returned to duty. Hilderbrand commanding the brigade said he sent the same report to General Sherman, his division commander and that the General ordered Sergt. Eagler to be put under arrest for spreading a false alarm. Hilderbrand in pursuance of this order, ordered Cap. Stevens to take a force sufficient to arrest Eagler. Stevens with a few files of soldiers came to the picket line and demanded Sergt Eagler of Cap. Mason.

Cap. Mason replied that Eagler had made the report as he commanded and stated that the soldier had simply performed his duty in accordance with a soldier's oath and refused therefore to give up Eagler and informed Cap. Stevens that his Co. A. could not arrest the man. Stevens was also asked to go to the Vedette picket post and see the enemy for himself and make an early acquaintance with the enemy. Sometime afterward Col. Hildebrand and Staff rode out to the picket line and called on Cap. Mason about the report of the enemy in front. Mason conducted the Col. to a certain clump of brush near the old field and was told where to look and he said "Wait until I get my field glasses." Mason said "Col., you can see enough without your glass." He as well as the others went back to camp more than satisfied. At sundown that night he was careful enough to place two Companies C. and G. (Sisson's and McCormick) on duty to relieve Co. B. When Mason came into camp he gave orders to his men to have everything in readiness for any emergency, for his men all knew that the enemy was near. He also prepared them for serious work and asked them to be ready like men to do well their part. Hilderbrand told Mason that he went to his tent at dark that night, fully assured that they would be attacked by daylight in the morning and that he ordered his adjutant to write an order to company commanders to put everything in readiness for an attack from the enemy at daylight and he further stated that before this measure was carried out that Gen. Sherman came to his quarters and they talked over the matter and that Gen. Sherman hooted at the idea of an attack and said that his cavalry the day before had been half way to Corinth and no sign of the enemy. If the pickets had seen any of the enemy it was just a small reconnoitering party attempting to see the Union strength. Col. Hildebrand said, "Gen., I was at the picket post about sundown and there were too many for a reconnoitering party." Hilderbrand say that Gen. Sherman said "Pooh, Col., take a cup of tea and go to bed." He says that he did not obey that order, wrote home to his wife and commenced to put his matters in shape to fight. At about eleven o'clock that night Co. commanders received an order from Hilderbrand based on an order from Gen. Sherman for regimental drill on an old field three fourths of a mile to the left. Said drill to be held about one hour and return to camp for breakfast. To Cap. Mason this seemed a strange order and he made some bitter comments upon the same. The tents were standing, the sick were in the camp, the sentinels paced their beats, the settlers opening their goods and that portion of the Regiment not on duty moved on the designated drill field but by the time they had gone one third of the way to said field a mounted orderly came dashing along the road with orders to return to camp, eat breakfast and fall into company line. Mason had just peeled a potato and not yet tasted his coffee when with a loud shout the order came to fall into line double quick, which was executed on time. While the men were forming in line an order came to Cap. Mason, thus: Cap. Mason—you will deploy your company as skirmishers in front of the color line and move forward to the See House (a mile or a mile and a half to the front on the Corinth road). An order more ridiculous than the one of the night before, for the enemy was driving the Union picket line in, and occupied the ground very far this side of the See House, in fact were in full possession of the high ground occupied by the pickets, with two pieces of artillery placed so as to shell the camp or any one approaching the heights beyond the creek, with skirmishers in the woods between the run close to the color line and the high ground beyond. Captain Mason moved his men by the right flank down the road near the left of the 77th color line a few roads to a small bridge over the creek. He gave the order, on the right deploy as skirmishers—march, and while the order was being executed several of his men fell wounded and dying, and for a long time nothing could be heard but the hissing of minnie balls and the bursting of shells and the deep thud of the missile of death when it struck the body of the brave boys. He says they did all that mortal men could do to execute an order that could not have been performed by regiments. On their left was the 57th O. and on their left the 53rd O. While his men were in line as skirmishers they could hear in front the loading and click of triggers and the terrible roar of musketry. In consequence of the lay of the ground the missiles mostly went over them, but proved to comrades in line of battle a few rods to their rear and they could see the press of rebels on the 53rd and their falling back which was hastened by the unfortunate Col. Apler and finally the 57th and Col. Mungan was forced to retire; at the same time the enemy were to the rear of Mason's men, past their right flank and engaged the 70, 72, and 73, O. Some time after this it was discovered that their resources, upon which the skirmishers were to rely, was not in sight having moved over the brow of the hill. The color line was far down the side of the hill facing the creek nor could they see the line of battle of any Union regiment. Nevertheless the 77th stood for hours contending with a force of at least 4 to 1. The battery having been forced from its position, and the infantry both on their right and left having fallen back, it finally became necessary that the regiment fall back lest their retreat be effectually cut off. As fast as possible that skirmish line, what was left of it, retreated to the top of the hill a little to the right of the old church, where they found those who like themselves had been driven back, Major B. D. Fearing, Gen. Sherman a little to the left surveying the field. The battery stationed at the right of the church had been silenced and no person to draw it away. There being plenty of ammunition a squad was collected and the guns set to playing on the enemy with other men supporting the piece as best they could. Several times the enemy in front went back to shelter in the woods, but also they went streaming far past them on the right and puting them in the unenviable situation of rebels in front of them, Rebels on the right and left of them. It was plainly seen by all that if they did not want an escort to the south they had better join their friends who were somewhere to the rear. Nevertheless they maintained their position of the ridge for a long time; finally under orders from Sherman they retired slowly, still fighting, to the new line in the rear which he had assumed for his division. Thus giving time for better disposition of troops. A very important service was thus rendered. When they were once more in shape it was nearly night and if energy and pluck ever won it did then. Every man was rallied and set to work to withstand the last charge which meant victory or death, for all felt that a short half mile farther back they would be ignominiously pushed into the Tennessee river, which the "Johnnies" in the morning had sworn to do. Buell was expected but had not yet arrived and the others were placed in position to meet the final charge. They did not dread death as much as an unknown prison. Many who were dumb and terror-stricken came crawling back and laid down in line saying "Comrades, I have come back to die with you." From the rear came the sound of heavy tread. It was asked "Who are these men." They were the advance guard of Buell's army not with bugle and beating drums but stern countenance did they move along and file into line of battle. No wonder they moved thus quietly into line. They had heard, all day the booming of cannon, later in the day the rattling roar of musketry and they had strained every nerve for they knew that their comrades were in strife between life and death. Hearts that never did such a thing before said "Thank God! we will fight them again tomorrow" and all that night with rain and mud and hunger they lay on their arms silently waiting for the sun to renew the carnage of death. Every twenty minutes, from the gunboats at various points along the river came shrieking through the woods far over their heads vast shells to make music for the "Johnnies" and let them know that Abe's men were ready for the morrow's work. It has been said that had the Rebels another hour that Sunday, they would have driven the Yanks into the river. Cap. Mason did not believe it. He thought they were as severely whipped as the Union army and although they had got some of their camp and had pushed the whole army back nearly a mile, their army had rallied from the terrible shock and had learned that they must fight and kill their enemies or die themselves. The fact that the river was back of them only made them fight more determinedly. Johnson made a mistake in attempting to force the Union army into the Tennessee. Morning at last came. The work at once commenced.

The attack was made from the Union side and although the enemy was elated with their success of the day before, they at last gave way under the steady fire and by four P. M. the "Johnnies" were in full run to Corinth. On Monday the regiment though advancing with the reserves was not engaged. Tuesday morning Apr. 8th with other troops they were ordered to pursue the retreating rebel army. About five miles out they met about 500 cavalry under General Forrester, armed with sabers, double barreled shot guns and revolvers. They rushed at them, riding over and shooting or capturing all before them. The regiment was saved by the timely assistance of the 57th and 53rd. In this action the 77th lost 21 killed, 30 wounded and 20 taken prisoner. Cap. Mason was taken prisoner but soon escaped. After this battle and up to the capture of Corinth May 30th the 77th took a prominent part in the siege being often under fire. It advanced in pursuit of the enemy as far as Chewalla and during June until July 21 it was in expeditions to Holly Springs, Mississippi, Moscow, Macon, Lagrange, Tenn., and other places. July 21 it reached Memphis where the men did guard duty until Aug. 27, then the Reg. was ordered to Alton, Ill., to guard prisoners of war and recruit its thinned ranks. The Reg. was afterward ordered to join Gen. F. Steele's expedition for the capture of Little Rock and other places in Arkansas, leaving on the 31st of July, 1863 for Helena where it landed Aug. 5. It was here brigaded with the 43rd Indiana and 36th Iowa as the third brigade of the 3rd division of the Arkansas expedition and marched on the 11th for the State capital. Halting for a brief period at Clarendon and Devol's Bluffs, the army marched on the first of Sep., across Grand Prairie without water, through a hot sun in which many of the men were sunstruck, reaching Brownsville in the evening. On the fourth of Sep., the Reg. made a feint on the enemy's position at Bayou Meteor, accompanied by a few pieces of artillery, shelling them from their position and returning to Brownsville. It was on this march that Col. Mason met with his accident. On the tenth the army drove the enemy from Little Rock and entered the capital, where they encamped until Dec. The force of Generals Fagan, Marmaduke, Shelby and others, were hovering in the vicinity and waiting an opportunity to make an assault, and if possible retake the place. Gen. Steele had the railroad repaired from Devol's Bluffs to Little Rock and officers and men of the 77th were detailed to run it as well as to guard saw mills in the vicinity while lumber was cut to build winter quarters. In this way and in guarding supply trains to Pine Bluffs the reg. was employed until Dec. 20, when most of the men reenlisted as veteran volunteers, a movement toward reenlisting having begun in the Regiment as early as Oct. The Reg. started Dec. 23 for Columbus, O., where it arrived Jan. 10, 1864, and on the 22 of Jan. they were mustered as veterans and furloughed for 30 days. W.

B. Mason was one of those appointed as recruiting officers. Reaching its rendezvous, Camp Dennison, Feb. 26, the Reg. left March 1st for Little Rock where it arrived on the 17th. It was ordered to march with Gen. Steele's exp. and left on the 23rd for Shrevesport, Tenn., to cooperate with Bank's Red River exp. A skirmish took place Apr. 2, at Spoonville and at Okalona on the 3rd, at Elkin's Ford on the 6th and at Prairie de Ann on the 13th and at Mosco on the 13th. Arriving at Camden on the 16th and driving out the enemy, it was learned from telegrams captured that Gen. Banks Red River exp. had been defeated. Gen. Clayton had started a supply train from Pine Bluffs to meet Steele's forces at Camden, but it did not arrive on time, and there was much suffering for food. After its arrival, Gen. Steele ordered his brig. all that were not on duty elsewhere or sick, to escort the empty wagon train back to Pine Bluffs, and on the 23rd it crossed the Washita river and left Camden. On the 25th of Apr. while guarding the supply train of 250 wagons, they were overtaken by over six thousand mounted rebels at Marks Mills, forty-five miles from Camden and about the same distance from Pine Bluffs. Col. Mason, I might almost say fortunately, was sick at Camden. The 77th together with the other two reg. or that portion of them that were with the wagons were either killed or taken prisoners. The Union losses in this battle were 250 killed and wounded and 1000 prisoners and the wagons. The 77th lost in this battle 377 including 11 officers who bacame prisoners of war. The enemy's loss in killed was much heavier, probably 1000. After this Gen. Steele was compelled to abandon Camden. Leaving the place in the night, by pontoon bridge and a new road he had made, the enemy, (which far outnumbered his forces) did not learn of his movements so as to overtake him till he reached the Saline river, at Jenkin's Ferry. Here on the 13th of Apr. the 77th was, with the rest of Steele's forces engaged in a bloody battle. The enemy was repulsed but the 77th lost in killed and wounded half of their number and a few made prisoners. Part of the time they fought in water knee deep. Those taken prisoners and those taken at Mark's Mills were marched two hundred miles south and confined for 10 months in prison at Camp Ford at Fylor, Tex., where 38 of them died. It was there John Calvert was shot. They were exchanged and returned to the Reg. in Apr. On expiration of the term of service, they were mustered out in 1864.

Letter and map from Cap. Mason to Mrs. Mason, dated Shiloh, Sunday evening, Apr. 27, 1862.

I presume Mrs. Porterfield and Both and friends are nearly crazy with their loss. I truly sympathize with them and hope no more of my boys will have to be sacrificed upon the altar of liberty. But God himself only knows what is in store for us. Some of my boys are very sick. I have two quite sick, Corporals Dougherty and Clindinst; each with camp fever. I hope they will get along. My boys had rather die fighting the enemy than to die with diseaseWe are expecting another bout with the enemy again soon, but I do not think it probable that we in our broken condition will be in advance. There are now many Regiments in our advance. The pickets are having frequent bouts with the enemy's pickets.**

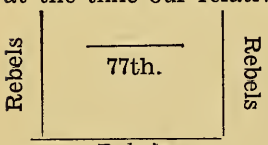
N. B.—We were ordered to go out Sunday morning and form upon the dotted line touching the old field. We formed and marched down the Corinth road to the bridge. Co. B. was then ordered out as skirmishers and I deployed as far as double dotted line. Before getting my men fairly deployed the enemy were in force stationed as marked on plot. Finding the enemy in such force we were ordered to fall back this side of creek points G.B. and O. (G. B., George Booth was killed) from this position we, Co. B. engaged them and the Reg. marked 77th O. fell back and formed at that point and son engaged them. Co. B. fought every inch of the ground, from new line to gully, without any running, let people say what they will, and too under a galling fire of shot, shell, grape and musketry before getting up to the gully. Many of my boys were wounded on this very ground, Wendlan and Davis, I think of now. A battery of 4 guns answered the enemy's fire and we were ordered to form in head of gully and sustain the battery which we did. Our 40 rounds were expended and we got more and we have not run yet. The enemy crossed the creek three times and was repulsed each time. The flag bearer was killed at F. They then broke and their left wing filed up the new road, giving us a cross fire which compelled us to retire to a line represented thus ' ' ' ' ' . Their regt. wing filed up the ravine and flanked our left, compelled us again to retire it being now past eleven oclock; having engaged the enemy from 6 A. M. and at the time our relative position to the enemy was this:



The small line the fragment of the 77th Reg. Again we fell back some distance and supported Batterys the balance of the day. Thus ended our Sunday fight. When receiving the order N. B. the enemy was already formed as shown nearly a mile this side with Battery within 300 yards of our tents. I was on picket the night before and some of Sunday. 2 P. M. saw heavy force of cavalry scouring the woods from our right to left. My boys were fired on about 12 Saturday noon. We at 2 A. M. Saturday morning plainly heard the enemy beating their drums on the road to Corinth all of which was duly reported and no notice taken of it, it being considered an absurdity that we would be attacked by the rebels, but you may be assured that the men of my company had but little sleep that night. Nevertheless as a body the Union troops were surprised. We fought well, but as yet, have not received the credit due us. Some body has murder on their hands. But the outright cold blooded thing is to come yet when the facts and plans of Tuesdays fight is made out.

Map No. 2 was drawn by Col. Mason from memory twenty years afterward. I do not think he knew of the existence of the one that was in Mrs. Mason's letter.

In many of his letters one may find today expressions of love for his family and his trust in God as one who is able to take care of his "wife and little ones" and himself in whatever danger. They show his love for home and for the country which he believed would finally be saved from its enemies through the power of God. From Little Rock June 16, 1864 he wrote "I have no doubt but what the glorious old 4th of July will resound with joy at the fall of Richmond, that stronghold of rebellion. I have come to the conclusion that David's remarks in the 108th Psalm 12 and 13 verses must be the final of this wicked war. I can truly say that I more fully comprehend the idea that man of himself is comparatively an exceedingly weak creature and it is well that we have a Saviour that sticketh closer than a brother. I must close wishing you all joy and peace. Give my kind regards to enquiring friends. May the good Lord be with you and bless you for his son's sake. Yours truly W. B. Mason." From "Memphis, Tenn., July 25, 1862. We are on the ground that overlooks the portion of the Mississippi wherein was the gunboat fight. The water rolls on as if nothing ever took place upon its surface. There is however an occasional wreck sticking up in the water to show that strife has been upon the waters." In a letter to his wife from Little Rock, Ark., June 10, 1864, he gives an account of the prisoners of the Saline river fight and closes with two letters addressed "Little Mary—Dear daughter. I received your kind little note of May 29 and was very glad to hear from you and quite glad that you have a pride in writing to your absent father. You must try to excel in writing. Write plain and neat and if you do not know how to spell the words to convey your meaning you must, until you thoroughly fix them in your mind, use a dictionary. Be cautious of a too free use of ink until you fully get the use of the pen in forming your letters. I would be glad to be at home with you and help you in your lessons and hope to do so some day. Until you can wield the pen freely and easily you must take great pains. My love to you my dear little daughter. Hoping that you will continue your little notes to father, I remain affectionately yours, Wm. B. Mason." and the other letter was to "Little Willie—Dear son. You need not grieve over your inability to write to your father. I know very well that your little hands are not strong enough to write to me yet, but one thing I am satisfied of, you have not forgotten me and that you love me and would be very glad to have me come home and see you and take some long rides on the Pony. I hope you are learning to spell and read very fast and that you may have good health and then your little hands will soon grow and then you can learn to write and then if I should happen to be from home you could then write to me. Good Bye Willie boy and may God bless you all. Yours affectionately Wm. B. Mason."

Another gave the names of the men taken prisoners to Camp Ford near Tyler, Tex., where 38 died and one John Calvert was shot dead in a brutal manner by a rebel guard for getting too close to "the dead line" when going for water.

They are always filled with expressions of love and sympathy for "my boys" and a hope that 'the reg. which had been so unfortunate in the past may not suffer more loss." With contrasts between the Sabbath at home and on the field, with bits of descriptions of the places and people etc.

"Little Rock, Arkansas, March 9, '64.

"My own Dear little Mary and Willie—Beloved children, it being a rainy disagreeable day I will sit down and talk to you a little while. How are you getting along in school? Are you good children, trying to learn all you can or are you idle and careless, getting into trouble? Idleness is the mother of sin and of itself sinful. I hope you love Father well enough to honor him, and the best way to do so is to be good, seek wisdom and thereby honor your father and mother which is obeying the precepts of our Heavenly Father who loves us all as his children and thus you will grow up and be useful members of society. Your father is far from you and he has to take this method of talking to you. Now you would be glad to sit down and talk for half an hour with me being several hundred miles from home, and to do so you must learn to talk, read and write, then you can talk with pen, ink and paper to father or to any other absent loved one, but to do all this, you must have a great deal of patience and you must study hard and try to improve a little every day. There is an old adage or saying "That little strokes fell great oaks." Now if you will keep this maxim in view you can become quite a little and Gentleman. There is likewise a Masonic maxim "That patience and perseverance accomplishes all things." Can't you commit these two maxims. If you do I do not think you will be easily discouraged. Well my children, I have given you quite a lecture this morning and I hope it will do you good. I hope you will not forget every night to pray to the Good Lord our Heavenly Father to forgive our sins and to create within us new and clean hearts. Surround us with the Divine influence of the Holy Spirit and to keep and preserve us until we meet again on earth. I send you kisses. I hope you are all well. I am in better health than I was some time ago. Good bye my dear little ones and may God bless and protect you until I return home.

Your Father,
Wm. B. Mason."

"Little Rock, Ark., Nov. 12, '64.

"Little Pets—Willie and Mary.

"Your Pa is a long way from you but he often thinks of you and wishes he could see his darling little children that he so dearly loves. Do you think very often of your father? Yes I am well assured that you do. There are many good reasons why you do not forget me. I am well satisfied that you would like to see me come along with Santa Claus, would you not? I expect, however that I shall not be able to get to come that soon. You must write and tell me what nice things he brought you. It would be a great pleasure to have the privilege of being at home with you during the Festive days, but I presume it will be entirely out of the question, but I hope you will have a good time and will think of Papa in his far-off log domicile. Hoping that you are both well, as likewise your Mother, I will bid you a very good night and may the Good Lord look down upon you and bless you and all. Good night again my dear little children.

"Your father

"Wm. B. Mason."

These are only a very few of the many letters and quotations that might be given, but enough have been repeated to show his character for "Out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh." Now after the family have lost this valued, this husband and father friend and counselor, few can judge how precious are these sayings penned by his hand and how they are treasured and guarded and how they even love and respect, the more, any one who expresses even a slight appreciation of his value. They are glad to know that his papers are of value but more glad to know that through them he is seen and respected. One letter written to the family gave them pleasure. Some maps and papers had been loaned to Mr. Dawes and when he returned them he wrote:

March, '93.

Wm. B. Mason, Jr.

Dear Sir:—

I have been greatly interested in your father's letters. They are historically of great value. But beyond this they disclose in your father's character many noble qualities. He was morally brave and true and without fear or care of the opinion of others. His memory will be long cherished by all who knew him and these letters will show to coming generations what kind of men composed our volunteer army. You have reason to be very proud of your father.

Yours very truly,

R. R. Dawes.

We feel that it was very kind of him to write this and want to say that the author of this book owes much to his honored mother for help and encouragement in her undertaking. Mrs.

Dawes was a lady highly educated and cultivated, respected and beloved by all who knew her.

RESOLUTIONS

The history of Col. William Bion Mason is also well told in the resolutions on his death written by the committee of the various societies of which he was a member.

Adopted by the Buell Post No. 178 Department of Ohio G. A. R.

Whereas; it hath pleased the "Great Commander" of us all to call from the ranks of Buell Post and our Grand Army our commander, W. B. Mason. Resolved, That in the death of Comrade Mason we recognize the loss of a worthy and faithful soldier and Comrade "Mustered out" from our Grand Army, but only to be "Mustered in" to the Grand Army above, and the Comrades life of Buell Post will ever cherish and revere the memory of our departed Comrade as one true and faithful in war and in peace. That the comrades of Buells Post extend to the family of our departed comrade, our sympathy in this their hour of bereavement. Resolved, That the foregoing preamble and resolutions be spread upon the Minutes of Buell Post and a copy of the same be transmitted to the family of our departed comrade.

Signed,
B. B. Stone,
M. McMillin,
D. P. Bodworth,
Committee.

To the officers and members of American Union Chapter No. 1, Royal Arch Masons: Your committee appointed to express the sentiment of their Chapter upon the death of Comp. W. B. Mason, make the following report: Our departed Most Excellent High Priest, Companion William B. Mason, whose memory we revere and whose death we mournfully regret, was made a Mason in Mt. Moriah Lodge, No. 37, Beverly, Ohio,‡ and received the succeeding degrees up to and including the Royal Arch in this chapter in 1855. Elected Secretary in 1856 served two years. Elected High Priest in 1858, served 14 years in that capacity including the Present year (*) and acquitted himself with honor and dignity. He was esteemed and respected both in public and private life. He served in many positions of public trust, and performed his duties faithfully and well. But it was in his companionship as a Mason that we more especially discovered the kind heart and unassuming manners of the true gentleman and accomplished Free Mason. He is no longer with us in the body—his memory and virtues remain. May we cherish the one and emulate the other. Our Most Excellent Companion closed his work in this life Nov. 11th, 1885, passed through the veils of the Sacred Tabernacle to the Sanctuary where incense burns forever under the Grand Royal Arch of Heaven, whose building is God, before Whom we all bow in humble submission.

Notes:

‡Sent in petition Aug. 16th and was iniatiated Aug. 28th, 1847.

*Was High Priest at Marietta, the following years: 1859, 1860, 1861, 1873, 1874, 1875, 1876, 1877, 1878, 1879, 1882, 1883, 1884, 1885.

At the reunion of the 77th O. V. I. during centennial week Col. McCormick, as chairman of the committee to draft resolution of respects to the Col. W. B. Mason, read the following, which was approved by a unanimous vote and ordered spread upon the minutes of the meeting. Col. Wm. B. Mason died in Marietta, Nov. 11, 1885, aged 63 years. As a citizen, soldier, patriot, public officer and Christian gentleman, husband and father, he was without a superior. He was born in Washington county, and it always was his home. At the outbreak of the rebellion he at once raised a company for service and guarded the threatened railroad till the fall of 1861 when he organized company B. 77th Ohio Vol., for three years service. Was its Captain till September 1862. Was promoted to Major and to Colonel Apr. 1862, was promoted to Major and to Colonel April 1863, being mustered out Dec. 1864 on expiration of term. He distinguished himself in the battle of Shiloh, and was permanently injured while leading his regiment near Brownsville, Arkansas, in September 1863, said injury ending in death after a score of years of usefulness. He was a worthy member of the Baptist Church. He successfully filled with fidelity and much credit the offices of Recorder and Treasurer of Washington county, and was for eight years Postmaster at Marietta. His old comrades of the 77th Ohio Volunteers unite in doing honor to his memory.

BRETHREN

The Committee appointed at the last regular meeting of the lodge, to report Resolutions on the death of our esteemed and greatly beloved Brother Wm. B. Mason make the following: Wm.

B. Mason was born in Adams Township, Washington County, Ohio, Aug. 16, 1823. Arriving at the proper age he attended common school until seventeen, when he went to Meadville, Pennsylvania, where he devoted two years in College, then to his native county where he taught school several years. Afterward went to Iowa and taught school one year. Returned to Ohio again spent one year in clerking in store at Lowell. Was elected Recorder of Washington County in 1855. Re-elected in 1858, was serving his second term when the war broke out. With love of Country at heart and fired with patriotism, he at once resigned his position, raised a Company of Volunteers and entered the service of this country Dec. 2, 1861, as captain of Co. B. 77th Regiment Ohio Volunteer Infantry, Reg. 26, 1862, he was promoted to Major, and on Apr. 18, 1863 was made Colonel of that Regiment, which position he held until mustered out, Dec. 31, 1864. Colonel Mason did valiant service for his country and was greatly beloved by officers and members of his Regiment. He was elected County Treasurer in the fall of 1866. Was appointed Postmaster of this city in 1870 and served eight years consecutively in this office. For the past six years has been engaged with his son William B. Mason, Jr., in the mercantile business. He was initiated, passed and raised as a Mason in Mount Moriah Lodge No. 37 of Beverly, O., being initiated Aug. 28, 1847. Past and Raised Sep. 15th of same year. He was elected and served as a Senior Deacon in 1848 to 49. Elected and served as Senior Warden in 1851. Worshipful Master in 1953. He joined American Union Lodge No. 1, F. and A. M. by demit July 1, 1859. On the 15th day of Aug. 1863, Grand Master George Rox issued a dispensation to Lodge "Shiloh" 77th Regiment Ohio Volunteer Infantry, with Br. Wm. B. Mason as Worshipful Master which position he filled creditably until mustered out of the service Dec. 31, 1864. He was devoted to Masonry and will be greatly missed in the Lodge by attending members.

Brother Wm. B. Mason is dead. Died at his home on Third street, Marietta, Ohio, Nov. 11, 1885. In the death of Br. Mason the Lodge has lost one of its most valued members. The state, county and city a just and upright citizen. The family an honored son and brother, a kind and indulgent father and husband. Resolved that the sympathies of the Lodge be extended to the immediate friends, also that a copy of this report be spread upon the minutes of this Lodge and a copy sent to the family of the deceased.

WILLIAM MASON

"A Pioneer to The Territory Northwest of the Ohio River."

"Our todays and yesterdays
Are the blocks with which be build."
Longfellow.

"About one hundred years ago,
Where all Ohio's Rivers flow,
The gray wolf howled, the savage yelled,
No house was built, no tree was felled;
In forest shade, or sunny glade,
No white man dwelt, no white child played;
On every plain, o'er every hill,
The shaggy bison roamed at will,
None but the wild man lurking there
Disturbed the wild beast in his lair.

Then like a high decree of heaven,
The ordinance of eighty-seven
Made all the fertile great Northwest
Flower free, forever blessed,
And Putnam with his little band
At Marietta made a stand.
And now, behold a mighty state,
With glory, wealth and power elate;
With many a purer, nobler name
Than Greece or Rome e'er gave to fame,
Names of such ground, such high estate
'Tis commonplace to call them great."
—Selected from J. W. Boxell.

William Bond Mason (Joseph, Joseph, Joseph, Hugh) was born at Lincoln, Mass., Feb. 2, 1767 and at the age of 21 joined the little band of 48 pioneers and under command of Rufus Putnam arrived at Marietta, Apr. 7, 1788. Senator Hoar in his speech at Marietta, Apr. 7, 1888, says of the 48. "Of all of the men of the world they were the first to form the government"There were never men better calculated to settle the country""We can measure them, they are the high water mark."

Ex-Pres. Hayes said "They went to school to George Washton. They were in miniature George Washingtons, all of them." G. R. Gear, July 15, 1888, said "They were men of industry, integrity and uprightness. They were God-fearing men, men who respected God's word and the Sabbath."

Mary A. Livermore July 1888 said "They were Grand men. Some of the best blood of the world ran through their veins. The world has never seen grander more versatile, more self-poised men."

Too much can scarcely be said in praise of them. It could be said of them as it has been said of the earlier Pioneers. "They builded indeed better than they knew." Of the full meaning of their works, and of their own future fame as its authors, none of them had any adequate conception, and but few had dimly dreamed. Neither they nor their works could be fairly judged in their time, for they saw but the beginnings of an experiment. Only in the light of a hundred years of trial can the works of the pioneers and the pioneers themselves be fairly judged. Looking back across the years we see their figures stand out clear on the sky line of our history." Agree with Senator Hoar that there could have been chosen no better men to settle the country and thus have a part in shaping the future of the state than was these pioneers of whom William Mason was one. He was sober, honest and just, quiet, industrious and religious. He was not always foremost in civil affairs because of his retiring nature, but every good enterprise had his support. Giving one's every effort to the upholding of all good and the destruction of all evil in whatever guise or station is noble. The homely saying of "Jack of all trades and master of none" did not prove true in his case. He was a soldier and Minister, cabinet maker and farmer all at one time, and was eminently successful in every one. The chapters on "Politics" and "Religion" tell of the honorable way in which he filled all positions of trust and with what devotion he served his God. His cabinet-work was perfect. Some of the household furniture of Rufus Putnam, as well as that of many other early settlers was his handiwork. His son William inherited this love for fancy carpentry. In fact a love for this work, as well as his tools descended to the fourth generations of Williams. Some furniture made by him is in the posession of his descendants. At his death the farm went to Jonas Mason and from him to Jonas' nephew and his sons. The northern portion of the original farm was sold to my grandfather William Mason ( ) and came by inheritance to my brother and myself at my father's death, but was sold by us in 1891. William[5] Mason was a member of the A. U. L. No. 1 of Freemasons until his death. On their books of a hundred years ago is the "Register of Names of the Members of the A. U. L. No. 1, holding at Marietta."

They held their meetings in Union Hall.

He was stewart and tyler. After moving to Adams township, he could not attend the meetings regularly, but paid his dues and was a member in good standing at the time of his death. I notice in this same old book Belpre, O., is spelled Bellepre. Their accounts were kept in Dollars, Dimes, Cents and Mills, and even the half mill.

"Wise men, they left the cultured East
Fought savage men and savage beast
Within the western wilderness,
And made it bloom with loveliness.
Grand was the thought their purpose led,
Magnificent its growth, and spread;
For human records gave no age
That bears a brighter, purer page."

—B. K. Shaw, Marietta, Apr. 7, 1888.

The men who came here Apr. 7, 1788 were not adventurers, drawn hither by a love for Gold. They came with high and lofty purpose. Their impelling motive was to obtain homes for themselves and their families. They were accustomed to good society and good government and desired to continue the same. Thomas Ewing says "The physical difficulties to be overcome in the way and the dangers attending settlement would have appalled any but the hardest of men impelled by a great and unselfish purpose." Their first acts after those of preparing a defense were to establish government, homes, churches and schools.

The Ohio company had ordered that four surveyors and twenty-two men to attend them should be employed, and that there would be added to this number twenty other men. This company was composed of "six boat builders, four house carpenters, one blacksmith and one common workmen." "They were to be boarded and payed, by the company, at the rate of four dollars per month. The whole number consisting in all of forty-eight men, was divided into two companies. The boat builders and mechanics, in all about twenty or twenty-two men, under charge of Major Hatfield White, formed the first party and started from Danvers, Mass., the first of Dec. 1787 and reached Simmerill's Ferry on the Youghiogheny river, thirty miles from Pittsburgh the 23 of Jan. The surveyors, Col. Ebenezer Sproat, Col. Putnam, John Mathews, Jonathan Meigs and Anslem Tupper and their attendants at Hartford, Connecticut and started the last of Jan. On account of the heavy snows on the mountains they did not join the first party until the fourteenth of Feb. Crossing the mountains they had to stop and build sleds to which they harnessed the horses; the men had to go on and break the way through the snow for the horses. That they surmounted this and all trials and hardships with great perseverance cannot be denied. This was only a foretaste of what they were to endure in the near future. The rest of Feb. and all of March was spent in getting the boats ready. The flotilla consisted of a galley, a flat boat and three canoes. Union Galley or Adventure Galley as the larger boat was sometimes called but afterward honored with the name Mayflower, was forty-five ft. long, twelve broad, and had an estimated capacity of fifty tons. It was stout and well built, but afterward was found to be too large and unwieldy for practical use. She was decked over, high enough for a man to walk under without stooping. The second boat was a flat boat of about three tons burden, which was designed to be used as a ferry boat and was called the Adelphia.

It was Apr. and the trees that bordered either side of the river were putting on their robe of green. Trees of such magnitude gave evidence of depth and richness of soil such as was not seen in New England, a sight that most of these emigrants had never seen in any country before. It was very encouraging no doubt, to the emigrants to know that "The Ohio Country" which was to be their future home, was so near and was such a land of promise.

They started down the Youghiogheny river April first. On the morning of the seventh "clouds obscured the sun and rain fell during a considerable part of the day." As they passed Kerrs Island, Captain Devol said to Gen. Putnam "I think it is time to take an observation. We must be near the mouth of the Muskingum." The clouds and fog and spreading branches of the sycamore trees so obscured their vision that although many were watching anxiously for the long talked of Muskingum, they did not see it until they had gone past. They landed below Fort Harmar and Major Doughty, the commander, sent some men from the fort to help the others make a landing.

It was high noon when they landed on the east bank of the Muskingum and planted, not a leaden plate, but the corner stone of the Buckeye state. Monday the seventh of April 1788 was thus made memorable. The workmen began at once to clear the forest and erect temporary habitations. In a few days the surveyors began their work of laying out the town. July second 1788 at a meeting of the directors it was resolved that the city be called Marietta.

Sixty chains from the Ohio and at a short distance from the Muskingum a stockade fort was built at the expense of the company. In form it was a regular parallelogram the sides of which were each one hundred and eighty feet in length. The sides were composed of dwelling houses erected at the expense of the individual owners. They were all two stories high, of sawed logs, the required length, four inches thick and put together with hand made nails and were covered with shingle roofs and furnished with brick chimneys made on the grounds by men of experience. It must be remembered that the logs for this building were sawed by hand and the shingles were split from oak blocks previously sawed the required length. The shingles after being split were sloped at one end with the axe. Besides the row of windows in the first and second story, there were loop-holes for musketry. At the four corners there were block houses higher than the houses which formed the curtains or sides of the fort. The blockhouses also projected beyond the sides of the stockade about six feet. The first story was twenty feet square and the second projected two feet over the first, making it twenty four feet square. These houses were each covered with roofs which were four-square. Three of these houses were surmounted by watch towers large enough for four men. On the other was a tower capped with a cupola in which the bell was placed. The watch towers were found inconvenient of access after the Indian war broke out and small, square bastrons were built at each angle of the stockade for the accommodation of the sentries. The sides of which were about 6 ft. They were not roofed and were supported by posts at the angles. The floor was lower than that of the second story of the blockhouses. Cannon were placed in the Northeast and Southwest towers.

Gates were hung in the south and west sides of the square, and over them was a house, like the corner blockhouse, intended for protection of the gate in case of an attack. Public religious worship and court was held in the north west blockhouse. The open yard or court within was one hundred and forty feet square and inside this, probably in the center, was dug a well eighty feet deep.

Rows of palings were placed from corner to corner of the blockhouse, sloping outward at an angle of forty-five degrees, and supported by posts and railing. At a distance of twenty feet from these sharp pickets, and surrounding the entire work was a line of heavy palings eight or ten feet in height; and again outside of this there was an abatis formed by boughs of trees with the smaller limbs pointed and projecting outward. This fortification was called Campus Martius. At a place farther down the Muskingum, called "The Point" there were twenty-five dwellings erected this same season.

Six families came on the 19th of August, among them the families of Major Asa Coburn, and his son-in-law Andrew Webster. Miss Susannah Coburn then a young girl was afterward married to William Mason.

Col. Ichabod Nye says "The winter began wtih a hundred or more in the settlement." They passed through a pestilence of smallpox, a famine and a five years war. Thomas Ewing was given a public dinner at Marietta Sep. 2, 1837. Judge Ephraim Cutler was Pres. of the day, and one of the Vice Pres. was Wm. Mason.

William Mason owned and probably built, one of the two story houses which composed the west or southwest side of Campus Martius, as shown in both views. Here he and his family dwelt until 1796 when he removed to his farm which was in Adams Township, ten or twelve miles up the Muskingum. Here the conqueror of all found him Sep. 26, 1813, but death had no victory, for now he lives in fame though not in life. Having been one of the "Hardy, heroic, devoted men who, fearing God feared nothing else, erected here and everywhere in our land alters to the true God, founded schools for their children, established institutions of law, liberty and a pure morality of general and exalted Piety." "A life well spent reaches forward and influences the ages."

Mary A. Livermore says "Men never grow grand, never very great, never become very Godlike unless they are associated with and stimulated by women of equal magnitude of character. The women of early times were as heroic and patriotic as the men."

The endurance of one was only equaled by that of the other. In times of peace they were real helpmates and in times of war they were the greater sufferers. The work of patient waiting was harder to bear than active serving. The women of these times are worthy to be held in grateful remembrance as having had a large share in securing for us a free country, in which the inhabitants are blessed with civil and religious liberty.

The men of the Revolutionary war, and the men composing the settlement at Marietta, never could have accomplished what they did, if the women had not borne well their part. It is surprising the amount of hard work they did. This with their exposure and constant dread of savage warfare, was enough to destroy both mind and body.

The wife of William Mason was one of these heroic women, who though perils of every kind surrounded her on all sides, lived a long and useful life. She like most others of her day was moral and religious and unswerving in allegiance to right and duty; evidence of this is her church history. It is not known when she first united with the church but her name is found on the first records, and if it is true, as has been supposed, that she was a member before 1788 then she must have been a Christian for nearly seventy years. Susannah was fourteen years old when she came to Marietta with her parents Major Coburn and Mary (McClure) Coburn. They were in the company of first families to arrive Aug. 19, 1788. Her brother-in-law Andrew Webster then a widower came in same company bringing with him part of his family. His son Andrew was a baby and was carried by Susannah all the way. Adelphia came afterward and was married to his cousin. Susannah's mother died probably between Jan. and Apr. 1790 of smallpox. Her father died at Waterford 1797 during the Indian war. What her life was before she came to Ohio can only be guessed at. What other girls in Revolutionary times did, no doubt she did. She was one year old when her father joined the army; and for eight years war was all around her. The five years between 1783 and 1788 are years about which very little can now be learned. She spent some of this time undoubtedly in acquiring the various household duties and in study for she was a good student and well informed. The new home that her parents had chosen for the family was the border land of another battle ground, but fortunately only the border. After they left "The Point" and dwelt inside the stockade they were never attacked by the Indians.

"TOAST—PIONEER WOMEN" Response.

All honor and praise to the patriot band
In whose memory we gather today;
That they opened the gate to this glorious land
We will keep in remembrance alway.

But the pioneer women who stood by their side
In the times of such peril and fear,
To them is befitting a tribute of song
As we meet at this time of good cheer.

They raised and hatcheled and spun the flax,
And they plied the loom as well;
They made the pants and the linsey shirts
To clothe the men and to sell.

A pair of pants bought a bushel of salt
That was with eight dollars in gold;
For the good man traveled a hundred miles
For his salt, in days of old.

He built his campfire for rest and sleep,
And to keep the wolves at bay,
While his quivering horses crept to his side
Not daring to wander away.

With an anxious heart his wife, meantime,
Took up his cares with her own
She cared for the children, she nursed the sick,
And tended the farm alone.

Those were times of peril that tried the nerves,
And the strength of woman's heart;
In the strife and danger she faltered not,
But bravely bore her part.

* * * * *

And the ever increasing millions
Of this wonderful Northwest,
For the comfort and cheer she hath given
Will arise and call her blest.

May Omnipotent Love be our safeguard
In the perils that yet are in store;
May He keep us from wrong and disaster
Till the Danger of Peril is o'er.

May the hallowing power of the Sabbath
Be kept with this prospect in view
And the grant of this noble possession
Be to those who are worthy and true."

THE DESCENDANTS OF ANOTHER WILLIAM MASON

1. William[1] Mason was b. in 1764, married Rebecca Sharp Jan. 9, 1706, in Philadelphia, Pa. She was b. in 1765 and d. Mar. 2, 1812, in the 48th year of her age. The high water came over their farm and into their house, so that the family had to camp out on the hillside back of the house. It was there that she got the cold which resulted in her death. He d. Aug. 2, 1826, in the 63rd year of his age. They were buried on his farm. The gravestones still standing, mark the place; just above the mouth of, and a short distance East from Bigrun. Bigrun is between Coalrun village and Lowell, O., and flows into the Muskingum River. Mr. Mason and his wife came to Ohio in 1797. His father and mother and several of William's brothers came with him from somewhere in the East, probably New Jersey, and stopped in Redstone, Pa. How long they stayed there, is not known. His son, William, Jr., was b. there in 1796, and was one year old when the family came to Ohio in 1797, just after the Indian war. Mr. Wm. Mason and his father and brothers built boats near Redstone and moved their families on board to float down "La Belle rivere" to a Western and future home. Their destination was Kentucky, but providence changed their plans. Just above Marietta the boat containing the family and goods of William Mason was wrecked, and this branch of the Mason family was destined to become citizens of the Buckeye State. The fort at Harmar and the settlement at Marietta made it an inviting place to remain, so that this family took up their abode there. His parents and other sons with their families went on down the Ohio river and settled somewhere in Kentucky. William m. for his second wife Sally Shockley, Jan. 7, 1819. She was b. in 1797, and d. Nov. 26, 1845 or 7. She was buried in the family burying ground West of the run. He owned a large farm in Adams Tpt. His epitaph is given elsewhere. Five ch. were b. before they came to Ohio. William was b. in Redstone, Pa. His younger brothers and sisters were b. in Adams Tpt., Washington Co., Ohio.

WILL OF EDWARD SPRAGUE OF ENGLAND—1614

The VI th day of June in the year of our Lord God 1614.

In the name of God, Amen.

I, Edward Sprague, of Upway of Dorset, fuller, being sick and weak of body, but well and perfect in mind, thanks be given unto Almighty God, ordain and appoint this my last Will and Testament to be made in manner and form following. That is to say, first of all, I do bequeath my soul unto Almighty God, my Saviour and redeemer, and my body to be buried within the church yard. As for such temporal goods as God hath blessed me withall, I give and bequeath as hereafter follows: viz. I give unto the parish church of Upway ten shillings.

Item—I give unto the poor of the said parish of Upway ten shillings.

Item—I give unto Ralph Sprague my eldest son one of the oldest pair of shears in my shop and one lesser pair called the quarrell.

Item—I give and bequeath unto my oldest daughter Alice Sprague fifty pounds, to be paid within one year after my decease.

Item—I give and bequeath unto Edward Sprague my second son, two pairs of shears and twenty pounds to be paid likewise within one year after my decease.

Item—I give and bequeath unto Richard Sprague my third son twenty pounds to be paid when he shall be one and twenty years of age.

Item—I give and bequeath unto Christopher Sprague my fourth son twenty pounds to be paid when he shall be of the age of one and twenty years.

Item—I give and bequeath unto William Sprague my youngest son twenty pounds to be paid when he shall be of the age of one and twenty years.

All the rest of my goods moveable and unmoveable I give and bequeath unto Christian (Christiana) Sprague my wife whom I do make my whole (sole) executrix of this my Will and Testament.

Memoramd: That if Richard Sprague, Christopher Sprague or William Sprague shall happen to die either of them before they shall be of the age of one and twenty years that then his legacy to be divided between the other two, or if two of them shall happen to die before they shall be of age of one and twenty years, that then their legacies to remain to the other then living.

Finally, I do appoint Henry Samweys and Willia(m) Bryar overseers of this my last Will and Testament in presence of those whose names are underwritten.

Probation and Registration of the Will of Edward Sprague.

We, George, by Divine Providence, Archbishop of Canterbury, Primate of all England and Metropolitan, make it known that on the 13th day of the month of October in the year of our Lord, 1614, at London, before that venerable man Sir John Bent, Knight and Doctor of Laws, custos or commissary of our prerogative court of Canterbury, due proof was made of the Will of Edward Sprague, late of Upwaie in the County of Dorset, in the diocese of Bristol, of our province of Canterbury, deceased, having while he lived at the time of his death, goods, rights and credits in the aforesaid diocese or peculiar jurisdiction.

Upon the production and proof of this same testament the administration of all and singular, his goods, rights and credits, the accounts, calculations and reckonings of an administration of this sort having been heard without diminution from the same, are adjudged to pertain to us alone and not to any other judge inferior to us.

A commission was issued for administrating all and singular, the goods, rights, and credits of the said deceased and all things whatsoever contained in his will to Christiana Sprague, widow of the said deceased and the executrix nominated in his Will, well and faithfully to administer the same and to make a full and true inventory of all and singular, the goods, rights and credits of the said deceased to be brought into our prerogative court of Canterbury, on the 2nd day after the feast of St. Oblasus, bishop, and also to exhibit and return a full and true computation, calculation, or reckoning thereof.

Given on the year, day, and hour above written, and of our translation the fourth year.

Edmund Woodhall, Registrar.

Member of first church at C. Propr. from Mar. 9, 1636-7. Town office deputy. Assisted in laying out the lines between Mass. Bay and Plymouth. Deputy to General Court at P. for 1653, 1661. Member of the council of war. He and son Mark bought land in Marshfield Dec. 10, 1651, where he afterward dwelt. He was called "Ames" in Mass. He was Lieut. of Boston Train Band. Dep. for H. 1637-8-9 and 43. I have a copy of John Corbin's letter, which should not be considered as modern language for the terms for relationships were not the same as now.

2. Ralph[1] (Edward[2]) came to America with William (see Wm.) d. at Malden, Mass., Nov. 1650. He was a Lieutenant in Train Band Sep. 23, 1630. Was one of a Jury Empaneled. This seems to have been the first jury in Mass. m. Aug. 15, 1623, Johane, dr. of Richard Warren. (See Dorset Parish records Vol. I, Page 136). m. at Fordington, St. George, Eng.

3. Ralph[2] (Edward[1]) came to America with his brothers (See Wm.) in 1631. Captain and commanded a company of the Train Band and on Friday of each week exercised his command. His sword which is mentioned in his brother William's will is preserved in one of the old Sprague house in Hingham (1828). No. ch.

4. William[2] (Edward[1]) b. Upway, England, about 1609. d. at Hingham, Mass., Oct. 26, 1675. m. at H. Oct. 26, 1635, Millicent, dr. of Lieutenant Anthony and Marjory (—) Eames. She d. Feb. 8, 1696. He, with his brother Ralph and wife and brother Richard and wife Mary, came in the ship Abigail, with John Endicots party in 1628. They left Wymouth, Eng., June 30, and arrived at Naumkeg (Salem), Mass., Sep. 6, 1828. They came over in the interest of the Mass. Bay company. It was their decree that "None but honest and godly men should go over to settle." These brothers were Commissiened by Geo. Endicot to explore some land about the Charles river. They traveled through the woods to Charlestown, on a neck of land called Mishawum, between Mystic and Charles river, making peace with the natives. They were active in building up the first church. The oldest orthodox Congregational church in Mass. In 1636 William Sprague removed from C. to Hingham, Mass. His descendants are often spoken of as the Hingham Spragues. He came in a boat, and landed on the East side of the cove, on a lot of ground that was afterward legally granted to him by the town, was one of the first planters. The name of Bear Cove was changed to Hingham Sep. 3, 1635. "His house was the pleasantest lot in H.," which was about two miles nort of the Patent line which formerly divided the old Mass. Colony from the Plymouth Colony. In 1636 and 1645 he was Selectman of H. In 1661 or 2, he was Constable and collector of rates. He was one of the first proprietors who drew their house lots on Sep. 18, 1635. Land was granted to him in 1636, on "the Playne" and other lots also were given him for planting the same year and later on the 28 of Mar., 1651, he purchased of Thomas Hammond "Planter" a dwelling house with five acres of land adjoining his own homestead with land in the locality also 20 acres on the opposite side of the river against the end of the aforesaid homestead lot. At one time he appears as resident of Northfield but returned again in a few years to H. He resided on what is now Union St. Mr. Edward Everett in an address speaking of these brothers says: "They were persons of character, substance and enterprise, excellent citizens, generous, public benefactors and had large families." Feb. 21, 1673, deeded land to son Anthony. Feb. 10, 1634-5, the famous town order creating a board of Selectmen was passed and William and Richard Sprague among others signed this order. WILLIAM SPRAGUE'S WILL

In the name of God, Amen. The nineteenth day of October, in the seventy and five. I, William Sprague, senior, of Hingham, in New England, being sick in body, but yet of perfect memory; praised be almighty God: do make and declare this my last will and testament, in manner and form following: Revoking, and, by these presents, making void, and of no force, all and every will and wills heretofore by me made, and declared, either by word or writing, and this to be taken only, for my last will, and none other.

First and principally, I commit and commend my soul into the hands of Almighty God, and my body to the earth, to be decently buried, at the discretion of my executor hereafter mentioned, hoping of salvation, both soul and body, by the mercies of God in the merits of my Savior Jesus Christ. And as for such temporal estate as it hath pleased God to bestow upon me, I do order, give and dispose the same in manner and form as followeth—that is to say:

First—I will that all those just debts and duties that I owe in right and conscience to my person whatsoever, shall be well and truly contented and paid by my Executor hereafter named out of my Estate, with my funeral charges, which I will shall be first paid.

Item—I give and bequeath unto Millesaint Sprague, my loving wife, the sum of Ten Pounds in money, and one Cow and Horse.

Item—I give unto the said Millesaint Sprague, my wife, ten pounds per annum during the term of her natural life, (to be paid to her by my son, William Sprague, which I have reserved for her, as may fully appear by a deed of gift under my hand and seal to my said son, William, of my house and several lands and commons, as is therein expressed) and the summering and wintering of one cow and horse, and the use of one half of my dwelling house, and half the orchard, according as I have reserved upon the said deed of gift.

Item—I give unto Millesaint, my said wife, thirty and five pounds, which is due from me by my son, Anthony Sprague, to be paid five pounds a year till the whole be paid: that is to say, in case my said wife live till all the said payments be made to her: but if my wife decease, before all the payments of thirty and five pounds be made, then my mind and will is, that what is remaining unpaid of the said thirty and five pounds at my wife's decease, shall be divided equally amongst all my children hereafter named, that is to say: my son Anthony Sprague, my son Samuel Sprague, my son William Sprague, my daughter, Perses Doggett, the wife of John Doggett, Joanna Church, the wife of Caleb Church, and Mary King, the wife of Thomas King, every one of them to have part and part alike.

Item—I give unto Millesaint, my said wife, all my household stuff and furniture, linen, woolen, and utensils of household whatsoever, for and during the term of her natural life: and after my wife's decease my mind and will is, that it shall be divided amongst all my aforesaid children, every one of them to have part and part alike. And all my cattle not before given in this my will, to be immediately after my decease disposed of by my Executor, as followeth; that is to say: to my son William Sprague two steers three years old and the (?) and one cow; and all the rest of my cattle to be equally divided among the rest of my children aforesaid, every one of them to part and part alike.

Item—I give and bequeath unto Anthony Sprague, my Sword, which was my brother Richard Sprague's and one of my biggest pewter platters, and twenty shillings in money; with what I have given him before, in Land and other things, and his part of my household stuff and cattle, after the decease of myself and my wife, as is afore expressed, I judge a sufficient portion for him.

Item—I give unto my son John Sprague a piece of salt marsh, lying at Lyford's Licking river, in Hingham, containing two acres and a half, be it more or less, which was given me by the town of Hingham, to enjoy to him, and his heirs and assigns forever. And I do give unto my son John Sprague my searge suit of apparel, which with a Neck of Upland, called Sprague's Island, lying by the aforesaid meadow which I formerly gave to him, I judge a sufficient for him.

Item—I give unto my son Samuel Sprague my cloth coat, which was my brother's and one of my biggest pewter platters.

Item—I give and bequeath unto my son Jonathan Sprague, threescore acres of Land in the bounds of the township of Providence, in New England, which I lately purchased of John Dexter, of the said Providence: which said threescore acres of Land, I do give to my son Jonathan during the term of his natural life; and after his decease unto his heirs male, lawfully begotten of his body, lawfully begotten or to be begotten: and for want of such heirs, the said threescore acres of Land to return to the next heirs of the Spragues descended from me. Also, I give unto my said son Jonathan Sprague my best cloth suit of apparel.

Item—I give unto William Sprague one feather bed, which he used lodge upon when he lived with me, and one of my biggest pewter platters.

Item—I do make and ordain Millesaint Sprague, my loving wife, my full and sole executrix of this my last will and testament.

In witness whereof, I the said William Sprague have hereunto set my hand and seal, the day above written.

WILLIAM SPRAGUE, and a seal.

Signed, sealed, published and delivered by the above said William Sprague, senior, to be his last will and testament, in presence of us witnesses.

Jonathan[3] and Mehitable Sprague, dwelt at Smithfield then a part of Providence, R. I., and Hingham, Mass. In 1672 dwelt at Mendon, near his brother John S. and father-in-law William Holbrook. May 23, 1713 he made an agreement with sons-in-law William Jencks, John Taft and Daniel Brown deeding them his house and all his lands, they maintaining him for life and he to have choice of which son-in-law he would dwell with. They were to maintain his horse also and pay him L. 6 a year and L. 25, to such persons as he directed at his decease. 1719 Nov. 9, he deeded son-in-law Ebenezer Cook certain land. 1722. He wrote a long letter to prominent Presbyterians in Mass. (viz., John Danforth, Peter Thatcher, and Joseph Balcher) in answer to one they had addressed to him and other citizens concerning the establishment of a church in Providence. Mr. Sprague and his fellow Baptists, failed to see the necessity of a Presbyterian establishment however, and in his letter he gave his views in vigorous and unmistakable terms. He preached as an exhorter, but was not ordained (As Morgan Edwards declares in his account of the Baptists). This letter is given below. In 1675 his father d. and left a legacy to his son Jonathan of 60 acres in Providence. July 16, 1680 taxed Ls 7d. in Providence. 1687, rated estate 2 oxen, 6 cows, 3

July 2, 1695 he was appointed by Assembly on a committee to propose a method for making a rate. He was also appointed with others to run the Eastern line of the Colony.

1695, 96, 98, 1700, 1702 to 1715 Deputy.

1702 Justice of the Peace.

1703 Speaker of House of Deputies.

1703 Jan 22, he and two others were appointed to draw up the methods and proceedings of the Court of Common Pleas.

1705 to 1713 Town Council.

1707 Clerk of Assembly.

The letter he wrote:

"To John Danforth, Peter Thatcher, and Joseph Belcher, committee of the Presbyterian Ministry."

Sirs—We the inhabitants of the town of Providence received yours bearing date Oct. 27, 1721, which was read publicly, in the hearing of the people, and we judge it uncivil to return you no answers. But finding the matter to be of religious concernment, we counted it our duty to ask counsel of God, lest we should be beguiled as Israel was by the Gibonites, and inasmuch as the sacred scriptures were given forth by the Spirit of the living God to be our own instruction and councell, we shall therefore apply ourselves to them, and in the first place, we take notice of the honorable titles you give to many of us. Your view as we take it, is to insinuate yourselves into our affections, and to induce us to favor your request. But we find flatteries in matters of religion to be of dangerous consequences, witness the Hivites who said, We are your servants, and have heard of the fame of the God of Israel. In this way did Joash set up idolatry after the death of Johoida. Elihu abstained from flattery for fear of offending God, while the enemies of Judah, for want of the fear of God, practiced it. By the same means was Daniel cast into the lions den, and Herod sought to stay the Lord Christ, and some at Rome, sought to make divisions in the church of Christ by flattering words, and fair speeches to deceive the simple, but saith the Spirit Such serve not the Lord Jesus Christ, but their own belly: and saith the apostle Peter, Through covetousness and feigned words they shall make merchandise of you. To conclude this article we see that flattery in matters of worship has been, and now is a cloak to blind men, and lead them out of the way; and serves for nothing but to advance pride and vain glory. Shall we praise you for this? We praise you not. Next you salute all as saints in the faith and order of the gospel, wishing all of us blessings for the time present and to all eternity. It is not the language of Canan but of Babel to salute men of all characters as in the faith of the gospel. This is the voice of the false prophet, which daubs with untempered mortar, sewing pillows under every armhole, and crying peace; when there is no peace. Is this your way to enlighten the dark corners of the world? Surely this is darkness itself. Moreover, you highly extol liberty of conscience to men of all persuasions offering it to be most pleasing to God, and tending most to love and peace and the tranquility of any people and you say amen: and you well know it hath been our faith and practice hitherto. Fourthly we take notice how you praise the love and peace that dissenters of all ranks entertain one another within this government; and it is as you say to your administration: and you suppose that under God it is owing to the choice liberty granted to the protestants of all denominations in the Royal Charter graciously given us, and to the discreet and wise rules under whose conduct we enjoy this happiness. We answer, This happiness principally consists in our not allowing societies to have any supremacy one over another, but each society supports their own ministry, of their own free will and not by constraint or force upon any man's person or estate; and this greatly adds to our peace and tranquility. But the contrary, which takes away men's estates by force to maintain their own or any other ministry, serves for nothing but to provoke wrath, envy and strife. This wisdom comes not from above, but is earthly, sensual and devilish. In those cited concessions we hope too that you are real and hearty and do it not to flourish your compliments; otherwise you make a breach on the third commandment. This is but a preface to make room for your request which is That we would be pleased, according to our powers to countenance, protect and encourage your ministers in their coming and preaching in this town of Providence To which we answer: We admire at your request; or that you should imagine or surmise that we should consent to either; Inasmuch as we know that (to witness for God) your ministers, for the most, were never set up by God, but have consecrated themselves, and have changed his ordinances; and for their greediness after filthy lucre, some you have put to death; others you have banished upon pain of death, others you barbarously scourged; others you have imprisoned and seized upon their estates, and at this very present you are raviling towns in pieces, ruining the people with innumerable charges, which make them decline your ministry, and fly for refuge, some to the church of England and others to dissenters of all denominations, and you like wolves persue, and wherever you find them within reach, you seize upon their estates. And all this done to make room for your pretended ministers to live in idleness, pride and fullness of bread. Shall we countenance such ministers for Christ's ministers? Nay, verily, These are not the works of Christ's ministry, but are a papal spot that is abhored by all pious protestants. And since you wrote this letter the constable of Attleborough has been taking away the estates of our dear friends and pious dissenters to maintain the ministers. The like hath been done in the town of Mendon. Is this the way of peace? Is this the fruit of your love? Why do you hug this sin of Eli's sons and walk in the steps of the false prophets, biting your teeth and crying peace, but no longer than they purr into your mouth but you prepare war against them. Christ bids us to beware of such as come to us in sheeps clothing, but inwardly are raving wolves; and your clothing is as scanty that all may see your shame, and see that your teaching is like Gideon's who taught the men of Succoth with the briars and thorns of the wilderness. In the next place, you freely confess that we entertained you kindly at all times; we hope we are all so taught of God to love our enemies and do good to them that hate us, and pray for them who despitefully treat us. And since you admire the love and peace we do enjoy, we pray you to use the same methods and write after our copy. And for the future never let us hear of your pillaging conscientious dissenters to maintain your own ministers. O, let not this sin be your everlasting ruin. Further, you desire that all former inquiries done by you to us, may be buried in oblivion. We say far be it from us to avenge ourselves, or to deal to you as you have dealt to us, but rather say with our Lord, Father forgive them, for they know not what they do. But if you mean that we should not speak of former actions done hurtfully to any man's person, we say God never called for that nor supposed it to be done; as witness Cain, Jobe and Judas, which are upon record to deter other men from doing the like. Lastly you desire of us to improve our interest in Christ Jesus for you at the throne of grace. Far be it from us to deny you this, for we are commanded to pray for all men. And we count it our duty to pray for you, that God will open your eyes and see how far you have erred from the way of peace; and that God will give you godly sorrow for the same, and such repentance as is never to be repented of; and that you may find mercy and favor of our Lord Jesus Christ at his appearing. And so hoping, as you tender the everlasting welfare of your souls and the good of your people, you will embrace our advice; and not suffer passion so to rule as to cause you to hate reproof lest you draw down vengeance on yourselves and on the land. We, your friends of the town of Providence, bid you farewell. Subscribed for, and in their behalf, by your ancient friend and servant for Jesus sake.

To this date the town of P. extended north to the Mass. line. In the history of Woodsocket, R. I. (Formerly a part of S.) page 203, we read "For upwards of a century the Spragues were prominent actors in the religious and political history of old Smithfield." Aug. 31, 1738 he deeded the land whereon Baptist meeting house stands to persons for and in consideration of a meeting house by my leave and consent already erected and built for the worship of God, by my honored father, Jonathan Sprague, James Ballou, James Walling and Richard Sprague. 1740, Dec. 15, he deeded to daughter Sarah Sly and her husband William, for love, etc. 11½ acres. 1750, Dec. 20, he deeded for love, etc. to dutiful and obedient son Jonathan half of lands in Smithfield and Cumberland, 300 acres and dwelling house on easterly part of homestead on the interval on the West side of Pawtucket River, also half the barn. 1754, Feb. 9, he and his son made a division of land above deeded, and wherein being an orchard of which Joshua was to have the apples, the said William agrees not to put in any creatures from the first of Aug. to the last day of Oct., with liberty at other times to put such creatures as will not hurt the trees. 1762, May 21, he bought of his son Joshua and wife Abigail for $1,250.00 certain land in Smithfield and Cumberland. 1768, Apr. 15, deeded for love, etc. to dutiful grandsons Elias and Nehemiah Sprague, and for my honorable maintenance all my homestead farm where I dwell.

His first wife, Alice Brown, was dr. of Daniel Brown and Alice Hearnden. Daniel Brown was son of Chad Brown and Elizabeth Sharparowe. Alice Hernden was dr. of Benjamin Hernden and Elizabeth White, dr. of William White.

Chad Brown came from Eng. in ship Martha, which arrived in Boston, Mass., July 1628. He brought with him his wife Elizabeth and son John, then 8y. and perhaps younger ch. He did not long remain in Mass., because of his religious views but soon removed to Providence, where he became at once a leader and one of the most valued citizens of that colony. The same year he, with twelve others signed a compact relating to the government of the town. He was the first signer. As surveyor he was appointed on committee to compile list of home lots, of the first settlers of the "Town streete' and the meadow alotted to them. His own fronted on town street, now South Main and Market Square. The College grounds of Brown University comprise a part of his town lot. He was b. in England about 1600. m. Sep. 11, 1626. d. Sep. 2, 1650. Daniel d. Sep. 29, 1710. m. Dec. 25, 1669.

Mr. Hearnden with wife and two sons came to Boston or Charlestown about 1630 from England. Soon after his coming he was drowned and his son Benjamin the oldest went to live with an uncle, but at the age of 15 he went to Rhode Island. On his way he met Mr. William White and family, whose dr. Elizabeth, he afterward m. They dwelt at Providence, R. I. Their dr. Alice was b. 1655 and d. Sep. 9, 1710. CONANT FAMILY

John Conant b. about 1520. dwelt in East Budleigh, Devonshire, Eng. He was buried at E. Budleigh March 30, 1596.

Mr. J. B. Felt says John Conant descended from ingenious parents of Gittsham, near Honiton, whose ancestors for many generations have been fixed there, but were originally of French extraction. See also William Gibbs and John Farmer.

Richard (John) b. 1548. m. Feb. 4, 1578. He was assessed on the subsidy roll 1571, 1581, 1588. Was church warden 1577, 1606 and 1616, then a position usually held only by members of leading families. In 1600 he payed the "Malt rate" and in 1636 was rated 2 shillings 6 pence, the second highest in the parish. m. Feb. 1578 Agness, dr. of John Clark, Sr., of Collyton, Devonshire, who d. April 6, 1585 and Anne, dr. of William Mayce, who were m. June 9, 1544. His will is dated Nov. 20, 1629, and proved Oct. 13, 1631. Richard and Agness Conant were both bur. Sep. 22, 1630.

Roger[3] (Richard,[2] John.[1]) the eighth son bap. April 9, 1592 at All Saints Church in the parish of East Budleigh, Devonshire, Eng. m. in parish of St. Annis Blackfriars, London, Eng., Nov. 11, 1618, Sarah Horton, who d. Jan. 28, 1627-8. He emigrated to Plymouth, Mar. 1622 and d. at Salem Nov. 19, 1679. Was at Plymouth 1622, Nantasket 1624, Cape Ann 1625, Salem 1626, Beverly 1638. From an article in the New England His. and Gen. Reg. by

Rev. Joseph B. Felt, and the Conant family and other printed records I extract the following facts. "Who among the primitive settlers of Mass., more deserving our grateful respect than Roger Conant. True he was not called to walk in the high places of civil promotion all through his Colonial career. Circumstances occur that oftimes, while a few of distinguished merit are raised to posts of trust and honor, more of equal merit and desert bear no such office and titled rank. It is indeed, correct, that the race is not to all of the swift nor the battle to all of the strong. Still he was not without prominency of station. Prior to his leaving his native land it is evident from his subsequent position that he was ranked among Episcopal Puritans. Roger Conant was a type of the best citizens Old England sent to the making of New England. The lad was doubtless moved by the wonderful life of his fathers neighbor and contemporary Sir Walter Raleigh. At the age of 31 he set out probably in 1622 on the Ann with the third company of Pilgrims to Plymouth. In this wild and new country he passed the remaining years of his long and useful life, first as Governor of the Colony at Cape Ann. which was later made the Mass. Bay Colony. The first Gov., he was succeeded by John Endicott, who came through a change of ownership of the charter. Conant had committed to him charge of all the affairs as well as fishing and planting. Then as a founder and first citizen of Naumkeag (Salem) (1626) owning the first house which was said to have been one of the best in the place. He was industrious, peace-loving, discreet, Godfearing and courageous. He was as his friends wrote of him, a Godly man and a good fighter."

He was one of twelve to enforce municipal regulations, which was the work of a freeman. Made freeman May 18, 1631. Was among the house of Deputies, Boston, from Salem, May 14, 1634. In 1635 on board whose duties were to oversee the landed interest of their townsmen. 1637 a Justice of the Quarterly Court 1639 of Salem for three years. Contracting for a new meeting house. His son Roger was given 40 acres of land for he was the first white child born in Salem. Was Rep. at 1st Gen. Court of Mass. 1634. In 1663 he was one to help ordain Antipas Newham. Objected to the name of Beverly in 1671 and said he had been 48 years in America, after which 200 acres of land was granted to him in Beverly. Cotton Mather said of him "A most religious, prudent and worthy gentleman.' Mr. Felt also says we should render praise to Roger Conant for his extraordinary effort to found, plan and uphold the infant settlement amid signal discouragements. He was Gov. of Dorchester Colony, Mass. from 1625-28. He built the first house in Gloucester. The reunion of the family was held in G. Mass., Sep. 12, 1905. The family had permission from the city of Salem to erect on ground familiar to him, a statue of Roger Conant. This statue has been put up at a cost of more than $10,000.00. Their sculptor was Henry H. Kitson, whose Minute Man at Lexington is favorably known.

In the Conant Memorial Church, Dudley, Mass., which was given to the people of Dudley by Mr. Hezekiah Conant of Pawtucket, R. I., in 1891 and back of the pulpit is a beautiful memorial window which represents Roger Conant preventing a fight between Cap. Miles Standish and Cap. Hewes over the possession of certain fishing stage belonging to the Plymouth Colony. This is a true incident.

Lot[4](Roger,[3] Richard,[2] John.[1] (Third son) b. about 1624 at Nantucket or Cape Ann. m. Elizabeth, dr. of Rev. William and Elizabeth (Gardner) Walton who was bap. Oct. 27, 1629, Devonshire, Eng. He d. Sep. 29, 1674. Resided at Marblehead 1657, Beverly 1666. He was ancestor of the Beverly branch of the family.

Rev. Wm. Walton took his degree in Emanuel College, Cambridge, Eng., in 1621-3 and was settled over the Parish of Seaton, Devonshire, where his dr. Elizabeth was bap. He is thought to have come to Hingham, Mass., as early as 1635 and settled at Marblehead as soon as 1639. He d. 1669 at Marblehead. Elizabeth (Gardner) Walton was the dr. of Thomas and Elizabeth (White) Gardner and sister of Rev. John White of D. Through his efforts the first church at Hingham was built, and was their minister until his deah. In 1648 he received L 40 a year salary with 18d assessed on each inhabitant for firewood. In 1658 he received L. 70.

In a deposition made by Andrew at Ipswich Nov. 30, 1682, he states that he and his brother John bought house and planting lot at Lynn in 1639 and the following year (1640) his father, Robert came over and they relinquished the same to him. This house is still standing at the corner of Boston and Moulton streets. Is thought to be the oldest in Lynn. Much altered, and does not show age. Robert also owned the site of the Lynn Hospital, which he gave to Andrew, June 10, 1650 in consideration of his living with him and his wife until the time of his marriage as a faithful, obedient child."

Bethiah's maiden name is not known. There is a manuscript record of the family by J. T. Moulton in the Lynn Public Library. The part of Boston streets on which the Mansfield estates were situated, extended from Pine Grove Cemetery west nearly to Federal street, including Strawberry Avenue and was called "Mansfield End." Andrew was town clerk of Lynn in 1660. The maiden name of his mother Elizabeth is not known. It may have been Townsend or Gott. Copies of the wills of Andrew and Elizabeth are on record in the Probate Office in Lynn. After the d. of Bethiah, his first wife July 2, 1672, Andrew m. 2nd, Mrs. Mary Neale, widow of John Neale of Salem. II. Asa b. Sep. 14, 1741. m. Mary McClure.

5. Asa[6] (Andrew,[4] Daniel,[3] Robert,[2] Edward.[1]) b. at Dudley, Sep. 14, 1741. m. Mary McClure, dr. of James and Mary McClure at Brookfield, Mass., Apr. 8, 1762. Asa's Revolutionary War record will be found in the chapter on war history. He owned three shares in the "Ohio Company." A share entitled the owner to eleven hundred and seventy three acres of land and a town lot. He came to Ohio in company with Col. Cushing and family and Major Goodale and family, who "were delayed at Wellsburgh, Va., waiting for Maj. Coburn and family and his son-in-law Andrew Webster and son." From Wellsburg they all came to Marietta in the "Mayflower' which had been sent up the river for them. They arrived at Marietta Aug. 19, 1788. They were the first families to settle in the "Northwest Territory." When they arrived Campus Martius was in process of building but was not finished. Mrs. Mary Coburn is thought to have died in Marietta with smallpox sometime between Jan. 10, 1789 and Apr. 1789. He joined the "second association' and went to Waterford, Apr. 20, 1789, where he d. (Administration and Inventory, Washington Co., Record Vol. 1. pages 31, 34, 35, 37, date Nov. 1797 and Oct. 1, 1798. Bond given $2000.00. Estate valued at $2322.43.) It is not known just where he is buried, but probably somewhere near Waterford. Mrs. Frye thinks on Phineas Coburn's place a few miles up Wolf Creek (above W.). Hildreth's Pioneer History and Washington Co., O., history give lists of persons in the Campus Martius and at Waterford during the Indian war. They say Nicholas and his sons Nicholas, Asa and Phineas were at W. Now Nicholas was not married at that time, so this must be an error and should be Asa and sons. Another list gives Asa and family at Marietta but this is headed "At Marietta all or part of the time." This would make Asa recorded at both places. I am inclined to think that after going with the "Second Association" and during the war he returned to Marietta for a time, and went back again later. The women at least were at M. The sons probably at W. and Major Asa may have gone from one to the other. A stone to commemorate the landing of the first families was placed below front St. on Washington St. by the New Century Historic Society, on which they have placed the names of of Maj. Asa and wife Mary (McClure) Coburn. Asa Coburn's descendants gave 70 dollars to help pay for the D. A. R. marker which they erected to the Revolutionary Soldiers buried in Washington County, whose graves could not be located. His bronze marker is placed in that lot.

"Thursday March 18, 1819, solemnized the rites of Marriage between Baizillai Coburn and Anna Cudington, by virtue of license. Thomas White Justice of Peace." Mt. Moriah Lodge met at the home of Baizillai Coburn in 1828 and in 1829 in a room in the building in Waterford, which stood where the store of Gen. Devol afterwards stood. At the time when an Anti-masonic movement swept over the country, in June 1831, eight members met at the hall, and decided to defy public feeling by celebrating St. John's day with a public procession. The members who participated in the demonstration were Benjamin Soule, James Bowen, Adelphia Webster, Charles Bowen, Steven Devoll, George Bowen, Jeremiah Wilson and Baizallai Coburn. The procession organized at the hall and marched with music to the church, where they held services and pledged each other to stand by the order regardless of popular clamor.

JOHN HOLLCRAFT

The name of Hollcraft is spelled Hollcraft on the tombstone and Holcroft in the County History. He is spoken of as a native of Fairfield Co., Conn. One of the family says they have a tradition in their family that he came away from home in England when he was only twelve years old and went to sea. (He was undoubtedly of English descent.) He was b. Feb. 14, 1741. He was in Washington Co., Pa. prior to 1786 at which time he leased property of Dorsey Penticost on Christie Creek. In 1798 he bought land in Washington Co., a short distance from Finleyville, Pa., 14 miles up the Monongahela. He lived for a time near Gastonville. In 1788 he was assessed with a tract of 400 acres of land called "Liberty Hall' in Union Tpt. A part of this land is now the Huston farm. The Storer family also lived on it. His will was probated Oct. 16, 1816. In it the name Sprague is spelled Spreg. It is spelled Sprig in the County History. He d. Oct. 16, 1816, aged 75 years. He was buried on the Hollcraft farm, but recently Mr. Huston caused the remains to be lifted and reinterred in the cemetery adjoining the Mingo Presbyterian Church I have not learned the maiden name of his first wife, Sarah ——+——, who was b. 1741. CHURCHES AND CHURCH MEMBERS

"And they shall be mine, saith the Lord of hosts, in that day when I make up my Jewels."—Malachi: 3:17.

"And he that sitteth on the throne shall dwell among them." —Rev. 7:15.

As far as I have found the family have been, and are, true to their convictions. They are not all united in their religious belief. Churches of several different denominations (Notable among them the Methodist and Baptist) have counted them among their honored and useful members.

Captain Hugh Mason does not appear to have held office in the church, but he was chosen at different times to represent the interest of the Town in church affairs. It is recorded that,

"Att a public Towne meeting upon the 17 of November 1656 it was agread yt Capt. Mason, Left Beeres, ensign Sherman, Michael Bearsto, with ye three deacons should have the ordering of sitting of the persons in the meeting house. Ould Goodman Hammond and Goodman Stratton are joined to the same business and the rules are I Office, 2 Age, 3 State, 4 Gifts."

Again "At a Generall Town Meeting 4(10) 1663 Ordered—the Deacons with Capt. Mason, Lieft Beeres and John Sherman were apoynted to order the sitting of persons in the meeting house."

"At a General Towne meeting 14 (1) 1663, the Committee made their Returne of what they had joyntly agreed upon, about the Seatinge the Inhabitants in the Meeting house which being twice reade; it was accepted by the towne and Confirmed as the act of the whole towne."

There was at one time Dissatisfaction, and some took seats assigned to others. This matter was taken up in the townmeeting March 14, 1664 and "Ordered that the next Saboth day every person shall take his or their seate apoynted to them; and not to goe into any othes seats, wheare others are placed; and if one of the Inhabetants shall acte Contrary; he or she shall; for the first offence be reproved by the Deacons and for the second offence to pay a fine of two shillings: and a like fine for evry offence after." He was one of this committee again in 1678. The town passed an act. Aug. 23, 1634 "Agreed that the Charge of the Meeting House Shall be gathered by a Rate Justly levied vpon every man proportionably vnto his Estate." Men were appointed at their town meeting to make the pastors rate. It was "ordered D21 (M2) 1640 yt if any Person shall suffer his Dog to come to the Meeting vpon the Lord's day he shall forfett for every time 1 s." "That Thomas Whiting was Chosen to take care that no Dogs Come into the Meeting house vpon the Sabbath days or other times of publike worship: by whiping them out of the house: or any that be neere to the house att such times & to have for his paynes & care thirty shillings p yeare." As was the custom in those days the ammunition was often placed in the meeting house.

"At a Meeting of the Selectmen 30(6)1664.

"Dea Bright & Joseph Tayntor, being apoynted by the selectmen to take care to lodge the amunition (provided by order of the generall Court) in the Chest provided in the meeting-house Made their returne: that they had done it: & the store of ammunition theare lodged by them was; two Barrells of powder containing five score & 14s p. barrel net & is -five rundletts & one bage with bulletts; containinge three hundred & two pounds: with ye cash grose hundreds; & sixty foure pounds of mach." They also had their special seats for the boys and the tithing men or tithing Masters. The following are some of these appointed to that office:

Serg. John Coolidge 1682, 1707, 1710.
Simon Coolidge, 1682-3.
Nathaniel Bright, 1682, 1766.
Joseph Mason, 1683, 1684, 1714, 1715.
Jonas Bond, 1695, 1698.
The Pastors rate was made by Serg. John Coolidge in 1685.
Hugh Mason 1652, 1666, 1677.

Cap. Wm. Bond 1670 and meeting house rate 1656, 1679.

In 1694 some of the inhabitants petitioned against the building of the new meeting house in the place where others wanted it and selected Nathaniel Bright and others to represent them in the town meeting. Some of this number were, Nathaniel Bright and Jonas Bond, who also gave 10s 00 each to the new meeting house in 1693. Jonas Bond also signed Discent from calling the minister Auger 1696 and was "appointed to treat with Mr. Gibbs about coming to preach" and appointed to look after the building of the new meeting house in 1692, and to gather the ministers rate in 1692, 1693. Nathaniel Bright was appointed to divide the money between the pastors in 1616, 1617. To hold the money for the new meeting house and to look after the timbers 1713, 1721-2, "to see that the pastors wood was due measure and that it is sutable for use." Henry Bright was a Deacon and was one of the committee to place the new meeting house March 23, 1686-7; also appointed a number of times "to receive and pay the money to the pastor," and "to treat with Mr. Beasly to come and dwell among them as their minister," Aug. 24, 1685. John Coolidge was appointed in 1675 and 1679 to build and repair and make additions to the meeting house and in 1685 to help build a house for the pastor. While in the General Court he was a member of a committee (May 12, 1675) to investigate and attempt the settlement of the Salem church quarrel. The Governor and Deputy Governor were also members of that committee. He was also a member of a committee to attend to the church difficulty at Salesbury.

He was one of a committee to look after the education and training of the children of the town.

"Att a meeting of the selectman at Capt. Mason's 12-10-1665 the Selectman agreed that they would goe two and two together to go through the Towne to examine howe the children are taught to read and instructed in the grounds of religion and the Captal Law."

"Agreed Cap. Mason and John Livermore togather, John Coolidge Senior, and Joseph Tayntor togather, Corporell Bond and John Shermon togather."

The Selectman looked after the well being of the town in other ways.

They were very careful about who they let remain in town and how they conducted themselves after they came, as the following record will show.

Jan. 3, 1635. Agreed that no man being foreignor, coming out of England, or some Plantation shall have liberty to sett downe amongst vu vnless he first have Consent of the Freemen of the Towne."

"Feb. 3, 1656. It is ordered yt Captain Mason with brother Bearsto doe goe to sister Baall & there to acquaint her yt is the mind of the selectmen yt she sett herself to the carding of two skaines of cotton or sheepes wool, and her daughter to spin it, with other business of the family and this to be her daily taske, the which if she refuse she must expect to be sent to the house of correction."

"Ordered yt Cap. Mason & Ephraim Child upon the complaint of Samuell Thatcher concerning Mr. Pheahes yt the two doe goe to him and vse their discretion in words to the moderating of him in his disorder."

Mary (dr. of Hugh) m. Joseph Estabrook, who was a pastor of a church in Concord, Mass. 40 years.

Joseph (3) was admitted to the church in Watertown, Mass. in 1687.

Joseph (6) was chosen deacon at W. in 1726.

John (4) and his wife Elizabeth were admitted members of the church Dec. 19, 1708. "In seating the meeting house in 1699 John was placed in ye second seat in ye first Gallerie."

John (7) was admitted into the church of Lexington, Nov. 29, 1724. His daughter Lydia was admitted Apr. 4, 1750. and her sister Katharine and brother Jonas in 1756.

Elizabeth (22) who married James Kendall and lived in Sterling, Mass. was a communicant of the Church of Christ for nearly 70 years. (Sterling, Mass. History)

Their son Rev. James Kendall d. at Plymouth, Mar. 17, ——, aged 87y. 4mo. 14d., after a ministry of more than 59 years. He persued his theological studies under Prof. of Divinity Dr. Tappan then professor in the University, and Rev. Jonathan French, minister of the Second Church in Andover. Mr. Kendall was ordained over the First (The Pilgrim) Church in Plymouth, Jan. 1, 1800 and was the only pastor of the society for 38 years. On the 3rd of Jan. 1838, Rev. George W. Briggs was chosen as assistant. He remained fifteen years. Mr. Kendall's Semi-centenial sermon which he preached Jan. 3, 1850, was published, as well as that of Rev. George W. Briggs which he preached at the funeral of Rev. Kendall.

An account of his mother is given under (22).

Thaddeus Mason Harris, D. D. (grandson of Thaddeus Mason (8), was pastor of the Church of Dorchester for 40 years. He and Rev. Dr. Cutler went with Samuel Brown to Boston and helped him select books for a library, the first in Ohio, and was bought with skins procured by the settlers. In this Mr. Brown acted for the early settlers of Southern Ohio.

Jonas (9) in 1731 or earlier removed to North Yarmouth, Me. and settled on a farm adjoining the old Bashford place. In 1737 the office of deacon in the First Congregational church became vacant, and Jacob Mitchell and Jonas Mason were elected to it, the latter holding it 63 years or until his death Mar. 13, 1801.

John (11) was for many years Deacon of the Unitarian Church of Barre.

John M. Putnam, grandson of Joseph Mason (14) was a congregational minister and died in Dunbarton, N. H.

Joseph Mason 20) was parrish clerk at Lexington, Mass. from 1770 to 1791.

Jonas (21) was admitted into the church at Lexington 1756, and was a Deacon of the Unitarian church at Sterling, Mass., from 1790 to 1815. He and his wife Submit were members of this church for many years. Miss Ellen Mason, Hollywood, N. C., under date of Sep. 22, 1877 contributed to "Old Times in North Yarmouth, Me." an article on the "Old Meeting House" of that town. The following is an extract from it: "Its south side was 110 feet north from my father's (Cap. Samuel Mason) front door. Father's house was torn down in 1875. My great grandfather Cap. Samuel Mason (26) owned pew No. 2. My great great grandfather Jonas Mason (9) was one of the first deacons of the old church, which position he held 63 years, being the longest term of any who ever held that position. In the pew allotment after the enlargement of the church in 1762 he purchased the pew refered to as No. 2, it being one of the four most eligible pews in the church. This in time was inherited by his son, my great grandfather, Cap. Samuel Mason (26) who held it until he was almost entirely left alone as the last of the old congregation. My grandfather Cap. Alfred Mason (77) occupied pew No. 39 just in front of the east door. Had my father, Cap. Samuel Mason (249) and the old church survived, he would have inherited the old family pew." I find the following in the New England Historic Genealogical Register. "The seating of a meeting house was an event of no little importance and often caused much enmity and great trouble in many towns at that day." Hudson in his History of Lexington says "A large committee of most judicious men were appointed, that full justice might be done to all, and lest the committee themselves should, from personal interest or vanity, place themselves too high, or from extreme modesty too low in the scale of dignity, some towns took the precaution to appoint a second committee to seat the first." The following vote was passed by the parish to guide the committee in their deliberations: 1. It was voted that they should have respect to age. 2. That they should have respect to real and personal estate, so far as reference to the meeting house is concerned. 3. To have respect to but one head in a family. 4. And also they are to place the children where they may be inspected. David Russell, John Mason, and Thomas Cutler" were placed in ye second seat in ye front gallereye." Voted That ye two hind seats in ye lower gallery, front and side, all appointed for ye boys to sit in on ye Sabboth days, all under sixteen years old and a Tything man to sit near them in each Sabbath and to take care of them. The Tything man to take their turns: and if any above sixteen years are disorderly they shall be ordered into seats. Voted: That a Tything man should be desired to attend on Sabath-day noons to keep ye boys in order in ye meeting house.

William (44) figures not only in the political affairs of the "North West Territory" but was prominent in the religious circles. Sec. G. E. Leonard, D. D. in an article entitled "The Baptist Situation in Ohio Previous to 1826" and which was published in "The Ohio Baptist Annual" 1901, says "Previous to April 7, 1788 so far as the writer of this paper has been able to discover, there was no Baptist situation in Ohio. But among the forty eight of the arrival at Marietta was at least one Baptist, Cap. William Mason, who was a preacher as well as captain. He was a very sincere and ardent Christian, a man of prayer and a fervent exhorter."

From the Western Religious Magazine of May 1828. "He was one of the Ministers of the Rainbow Church (Baptist). He was also empowered to solemnize marriages. On his death bed he expressed a belief that his children would all become Christians. The subsequent history shows his faith was rewarded; for in a few years they all had professed conversion and united with the church. It is said that seven of his sons and sons-in-law were baptized on one day." The Rainbow Church was organized in the year 1796 or 7 by Elder Nehemiah Davis a minister from Maine. Cap. Mason was one of the members and became one of its ministers. His wife Susannah is said to have been a church member before she came to Ohio. She was a member of the Rainbow and Marietta Church and was received into the Lowell church May 11, 1833, where she was a consistent member until her death. She was a member more than 54 years. They both attended and assisted in the services held in "Campus Martius." The Baptist church in Washington Co, was established in 1796 or 7 in the vicinity of Lowell and was called the Rainbow church. This church prospered and grew until 1804 when there was a division on the subject of communion. Most of the members and Elder Davis believed in open communion and retained the name of Rainbow Church. This church was in existence Oct. 22, 1821. The close communicants were few in number and had Elder Paul for their pastor. By 1825 one of the two branches had taken the name of Adams and become extinct. Some of the members were then received into the Marietta church which was established Feb. 5, 1818. The record of Feb. 25, 1825 says "part of the Adams church, now dissolved, were received into the Marietta church." (This refers to one of the two branches of the Rainbow church and not to the Adams church which was established May 12, 1832 and which in 1852 chagned their name to the Lowell church.)

Another record is "Dear Brethren in the Lord, as we live at some distance from you, and believe it would contribute to the advancement of the Redeemer's kingdom to become constituted a separate church, desire to be dismissed from the Marietta church for that purpose, done by a unanimous vote at our church meeting Jan. 7, 1832." Among the signers were ten who were sons and daughters and sons and daughters in law.

"Whereupon on due consideration the request of said petition be granted and Dea. E. Emerson and Thomas Jett were chosen as council to sit on the 2nd Saturday in May next to assist in constituting said church." "Note—Such of the above names, persons as do not appear from this record to have been received, were received by the Cats Creek branch of the church." This must mean that some of the petitioners belonged to a church called the "Cats Creek" branch before coming into the Marietta church.

The first house of worship in Marietta was built on Church St. in Apr. 1836. It was burned down and a new one built on Putnam St. in 1855. Another one was built on the same St. in 1907. This church belonged to the Parkersburg, W. Va. Association, but obtained permission of them in 1825 to unite with other Ohio churches, who formed the Meigs Creek, O., Association. They afterward withdrew and with other churches formed the Marietta Association. More may be found about this church in a history of it which I have written.

Jonas Mason (son of 44) and wife Beula, were members, possibly of the Cats Creek branch and later of the Marietta church. They received letters from that church Apr. 21, 1832 and signed the articles of the Lowell church May 12, 1832. They were both "faithful until death." He was one of the Deacons for a long time and for many years Superintendent of the Sabbath School. They outlived all who joined the church with them and were the support of the Lowell church for a good many years. They were widely known as Uncle Jonas and Aunt Beula. Their home was the "Stopping Place" for all the preachers. Mrs. Mason was the Bible agent for a long time.

Elijah (135) and wife Mariah Mason took letters from the Marietta church or the Cats Creek branch in 1828 for the records say "Sister Owen and Elijah Mason, Hannah Morris solicitors to receive funds for the Marietta Church for the use of the Baptist Convention."

William Bond Mason (134) and wife Henretta received letters from the Marietta church May 12, 1832 and joined at Lowell. He signed the articles May 12, 1832 and I suppose she did too, though I find no record of same. By the record she was baptized in 1838 which could not be true as shown from other records; and she herself says the date is incorrect, though she forgets what year it was. She says it was nearer 1828. She was dismissed by letter from Lowell Feb. 1843 and again joined the Marietta church Mar. 22, 1843 where she remained a member until her death. Their daughter Mary Green (306) is a member of the M. church. Mrs. Green's dr., Sarah McKiney is a member of the Baptist church at Williamstown, W. Va.

William Bion Mason (305) was baptized Dec. 15, 1855 at Lowell and joined the church at Marietta Jan. 24, 1860. He was elected clerk. At other times he was a trustee and member of standing committee. Was a member of this church when he died Nov. 11, 1885. His wife Lucetta Mason joined at Lowell. Was baptized Dec. 1842. Was dismissed by letter Jan. 20, 1856 to join the Marietta church, which she did Jan. 25, 1856. Their dr. Mary Eliza related her experience to the First Baptist church at Marietta Wednesday evening Apr. 10, 1867 and was baptized by Rev. I. N. Carmon, Sunday evening, Apr. 21, 1867. She attended the young peoples prayer meetings and later was a member of the Young Peoples Society of Christian Endeavor. Began very early to teach in the Sabbath School and has taught almost all the time since. Was interested in Mission work and was president of the "Messenger Band" for a long time. Also a member of the "Ways and Means" Committee for new church in 1907.

Joseph Mason (133) and wife were members of the Baptist church. He was ordained and preached in Marion Co., Ohio.

Simeon Mason (136)

Adelphia Mason (138) and wife Patience were for a long time members of the Lowell church. She signed the constitution May 12, 1832. Later they both became members of the Christian church at Lowell. He in 1865 and she about the same time.

Clarissa Mason (137) and her husband Abner Devol signed the constitution May 12, 1832 and joined the Lowell church of which they were still members at the time of death.

John Roach and wife Pamelia joined the Lowell church at the same time as the others of the family and were always faithful.

The same may be said of her sister Sophronia and husband.

Susan, another sister, was received by baptism into the Lowell church Feb. 1845 and was dismissed by letter Dec. 1845. Moved to Marion Co., O. and m. Mr. Harden. They were both earnest Baptists when death came. He joined when a small boy.

Ruben Mason (311) was baptized Dec. 8, 1855 and joined the Baptist church at Lowell. Was granted a letter Apr. 4, 1857 and joined the Christian church at same place.

Oscar Mason (312) was baptized and joined same Dec. 15, 1855 and later with the Christian church.

Joseph (314) Mason's wife and family all joined the Marietta Baptist church. His wife and daughters are still active members.

Martin (son of 43) was a member of the Baptist church at Albion, N. Y. and at Augusta, Mich.

Josiah (129) joined the M. E. church and was in the itinerant ministry of the church in Genesee conference, N. Y. several years previous to 1856; was also Deacon and Elder.

Elijah (54) Deacon and Elder in Presbyterian church at Pomfret, Vt.

Jonas (74) Deacon in the Baptist church at Somerville, N. J., was a great worker. His son Pethnel (236) was also a deacon there. His children and grand children are all active workers in the church. Some of the offices held by them are, H. P. Mason, Superintendent of Sunday school and Editor of "The Recorder" a paper by the young peoples society (Y. P. W. A.) of Somerville, N. J. William L. Mason, Sec. of the S. school. Perley M. Cudington, Librarian. In their young peoples society William L., President. Perley Cudington, Treas., Minnie Cudington flower committtee. In the Woman's Mission work Mrs. L. M. Cudington Treas. & Sec. Minnie C. Mission Band Treas. Nina B. Mason, Pianist.

Rufus P. Mason (132) and wife were Presbyterians in New York, but went to Chesaning, Mich., and there joined the Methodist church; it being the only church in the place at that time. Two of his daughters married clergymen of that denomination. He became attached to this church and was the leading member in it. The church prospered largely through his influence. His daughter Mary married Rev. C. W. Austin who was pastor of the M. E. church at Danville in 1891. Caroline married Rev. O. W. Willets. They were missionaries in China between seven and eight years. They have been there twice. The first time they came back on account of her poor health. They are now in this country (Kingston, Mich., 1891) on account of his health. They were at Tientein, one year, at Pekin between four and five years. She has written very enthusiastically about this work. Their hearts are in the work and they would be on the foreign mission field again if they were able. Their daughter Estella was born in Tienstein, China. If they are not permitted by the Master to work again in that field, it may be that she will be raised up to take their place. The Master places his servants, if they will let him, where they can accomplish the most for him, and where they can use what talents they have gained to the best advantage.

Abiah B. Worster (237) and Samuel Worster her husband were baptized and joined the Baptist church about 1845 or 6. They were strong in the faith and very active in the work of the church.

Isaac Mason (son of 52) and wife Sally were members of the first Universalist society in Westbrook, Me. He was "chosen to superintend the singing." His family Bible is in the possession of Miss Caroline Briggs.

Elijah (84) was elected to preach in the M. E. church in 1828, ordained Deacon at Sardwick, Vt. and Elder at Northfield, N. H. Preacher in Boston in 1844. Was a member of the M. E. conference for 73 years.

Samuel (80) in 1837 pastor of Congregational church at Rockingham, Vt. Then at Tempster, Washington and Kingstoo, N. H.

John (son of 60) was a deacon.

Henry H. Berlingame (423) was a member of the U. B. church for fifty years.

Ebenezer White is a Congregationalist at Washington, D. C. and his wife joined the Episcopal church at Morristown, Pa. Son of (418).

Dexter White and wife (418) were Presbyterians at Bath, N. Y.

Joseph Mason (209) and wife were Methodists.

Thus the record might go on with doubtless many others if the facts could now be learned.

FROM GRAVESTONE IN WATERTOWN, MASS.

Here lies the body of Jonas Bond, Esq., who was called of God to serve the public both as Lieut. Colonial of a regiment of Militia, and a Justice of the Peace, and was careful to discharge his trusts with zeal, fidelity, and courage. Who was a man of unaffected piety, which was attended with all the virtues that are requisite to accomplish a Christian. Who was a kind husband, a tender father, a steady friend and a hearty lover of good men; and having served his generation by the will of God, fell asleep Apr. 21, 1727 Aetatis.

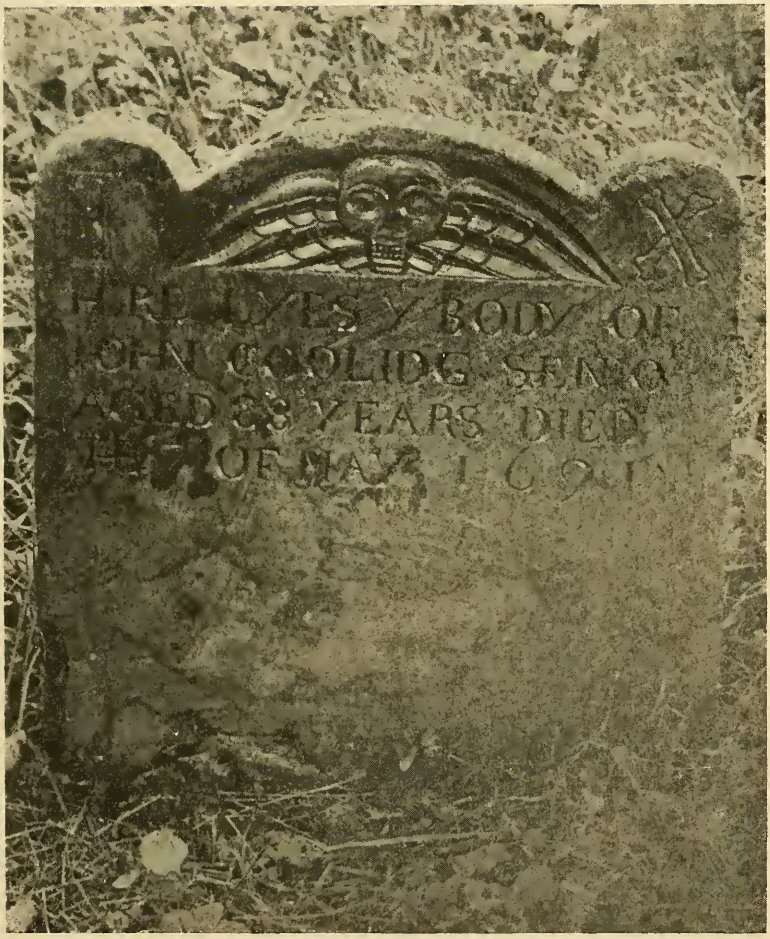
By the side of this is also

"Memento Mori fugit hora."

Here lies the body of Grace Bond, wife of Jonas Bond—aged 35y. Died April 11, 1699.

EPITAPHS

"The limit of life is brief,
Tis the red in the red rose leaf;
Tis the gold in the sunset sky;
Tis the flight of a bird on high,
Yet we may fill the Space
With such an infinite grace
That the red will vein all time,
The gold through the ages shine,
And the bird fly swift and straight
To the portals of God's own gate."

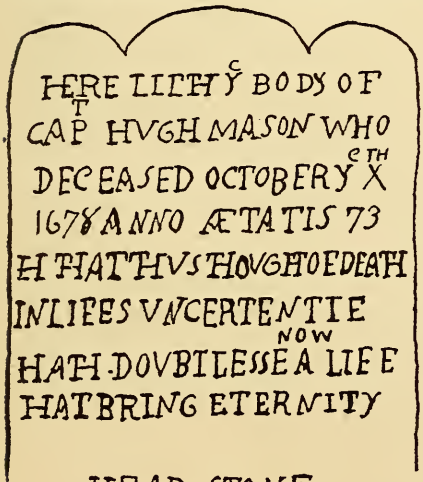


HERE LYES Y BODY OF
JOHN COOLIDG SEN.R
AGED 68 YEARS DIED

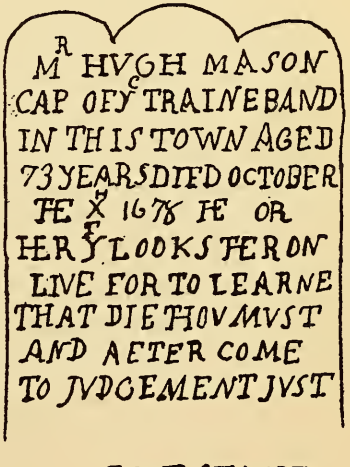
In the New England Historic and Genealogical Register for July 1880 is an article entitled "Capt. Hugh Mason's Gravestones" communicated by Benjamin Osgood Pierce of Beverly, Mass.

"Among the monuments of our early times, two gravestones, now standing in the old Watertown burying ground, are on several accounts somewhat noteworthy. They are of rather a coarse granitic schist such as I have seen nowhere else in the vicinity, of about twenty one inches and eighteen inches in width respectively; and are placed one at the head and the other at the foot of the garve of one of the distinguished early settlers of the town, Cap. Hugh Mason.

"The lettering, considering the difficulty that such materials present to nice workmanship is remarkably good. I have spent a considerable time and labor in uncovering and deciphering the inscriptions, that of the foot-stone especially being very difficult to read, from the fact that parallel with it and within a very short distance has been placed a much broader stone projecting on both sides, while from the settling of the stones and the natural accumulation of soil the lower part (The three lines and a large part of the fourth inscription) was quite underground.This accounts for the omission of the last two lines from Harris' "Watertown Epitaphs." The general appearance of these stones, and their inscriptions, are shown in the following cuts:



HEAD STONE



FOOT STONE

I visited these stones in August of 1895 and found them very much as described; also found the graves of other members of the family marked by much larger stones of the slate like rock that is found everywhere in the New England cemeteries. They had upon them the cherub-like figure and the fancy border; both of which was done unusually well. The one at the head of the grave of Joseph (6) bore this inscription. "Here lyes interred ye Body of Joseph Mason Eseplate Deacon of Ye Church of Christ in Watertown. He was a prudent loving Husband a tender Father and an excellent Christian. He was a Man very useful in this Town and when he had served his Generation by ye will of God he fell asleep July ye 6th 1755 in ye 67th year of his age. Thess. 4:14. "For if we believe that Jesus died and rose again even so them also which in Jesus will God bring with him," and on the footstone was, "Joseph Mason died 1775." His wife's grave was beside his with the following: "Here lies ye body of Mrs. Mary Mason Relict of Joseph Mason Esqr. She departed this life on ye 22nd day of April 1763, aged 72 years. They that sleep in Jesus will God bring with Him. The Sweet Remembrance of the Just shall flourish, when they sleep in dust. On the footstone was "Mrs. Mary Mason."

Another stone was that of Nehemiah (16) "In memory of Mr. Nehemiah Mason who died Aug. 6th, 1775, aged 54 years. Lover and Friend hast thou put far from me and mine acquaintance into darkness. Psalm 88th 18th. "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord that they may rest from their labours and that their works may follow them—Rev. 14th and 15th. On the footstone was "Mr. Nehemiah Mason."

Another stone was that of the wife of Nehemiah Mason, with the following inscription: "Here lies ye body of Mrs. Elizabeth Mason, consort to Mr. Nehemiah Mason April ye 24th 1755 in ye 52nd year of her age. She was pleasant and desirable in her life and much lamented at her death. "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord." On the footstone was "Mrs. Elizabeth Mason."

In the Evergreen cemetery at Deering, Me., are some interesting stones. The wife and son of Daniel Mason (360) are buried there. Their stones can be found north of the soldiers monument. The epitaph on hers is "Gone but not forgotten." On the son's is "Good-by Mother." Next to the southerly side of Pine Grove cemetery stands two memorial stones inscribed as follows:

Uncle
Isaac Mason (son of 52)
Sep. 5, 1787.
June 5, 1847.
Aunt
Sally Riggs wife of Isaac Mason
March 23, 1788.
Feb. 11, 1881.

HERE LYETH Y BODY OF MARY
AGED
22 OF AUGUST 1691

IN STROUDWATER CEMETERY

In memory of
Daniel Mason, Esq. (49)
formerly of Watertown, Mass.
died Oct. 9, 1817.
Æ+60

IN DEDHAM CEMETERY

"In memory of Miss Rhoda Mason, dr. of Mr. William Mason (12))and Mrs. Hannah Mason, who died Feb. 1, 1781 in the 21st year of her age.

Cheerful I go at Jesus' call
To be with Christ is best of all
Come, welcome Death, she meekly cried
Breathed out her patient soul and died.

Joseph (14)) Mason's is "God my redeemer lives and often from the skies looks down and watches all my dust till He shall bid it rise." His wife's is "Return my friends, dry up thy tears, for here I must lye till Christ appears."

The epitaph of William (44) Mason and his son Jonas Mason is the same as that of Joseph (14).

There is on the headstone at William's (134) grave, a small open Bible of stone, which bears the inscription: "Search the scriptures."

Pamelia (Mason) Roach (dr. of 44) "Though I die I shall live again."

Susannah wife of William (44): "Blessed are the dead that die in the Lord."

Elijah Mason (135) "Gone, but not Lost."

Beulah, wife of Jonas Mason (son of 44):

"Rest from Sorrow here below,
My Soul with Jesus sleeps,
I now enjoy that peaceful rest,
That None but Jesus gives."

I give here two epitaphs of the other Mason family.
William Mason died Aug. 2, 1836.

"Father I give myself up
And Trust it in thy hands.
My dying flesh shall rest in hope,
And rise at thy command."

That of his second wife Sally is:

Happy soul thy days are ended
All thy mourning days below,
Go by angel guards attended,
To the arms of Jesus go.

In the Watertown records I find the following statements.

"D. 5. M. 5. 1641. Ordered that Hugh Mason, Thomas Hastings and John Sherman are appointed to set vp sufficient fence about the Burying Place with a 5 foot pale & 2 rails well nailed by the 15 of the 2 mounth & the Towne to pay them for it."

Afterward there was an order "to pay them 6 lb. 10s."

"March 6, 1703-4—Voted, that the herse Cloth bought by the Town, shall be kept at the widow Hannah Stearns house; for occasion for it, such Persons to return it forthwith to widow Stearnes Soe Soone as the person is buried that it was fetched for."

A cloth of this kind had, before this in 1683 been given to the town by Deacon Henry Bright.

I also find a Plan of the Graveyard, Corner of Arlington and Mt. Auburn Sts., by E. B. Stearns in the Watertown, records.

The following, which I copy with numbers, name and date of death, are Hugh's descendants and others of my ancestors:

45.	Hugh Mason	1678
